SOUTH DRIVES ON FOR POST IN CABINET

Formidable Array of Southern Republicans Gather on Miami Beach

PUSH CRAMER'S NAME

Recall How North Carolina Stepped Aside for Wilbur for Navy Portfolio

BY GEORGE R HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

MIAMI BEACH Fla Jan 26—The drive of the new Republican south for a place in the Hoover cabinet is daily assuming larger proportions

While the president elect pursues the sailfish and tarpon in Florida's celebrated bays there is gathering on Miami Beach a formidable array of southern Republicans awaiting his return Their number increases daily—in proportion to their determination that cabinet recognition must be given the fact that four states of the erst while solid south became converted to Republicanism last November

The spearhead of this drive is Stuart W Cramer, wealthy North Carolina manufacturer and the purpose of it is to make him secretary of the navy He has the backing of most of the new Republican leaders of the south who were active in the Hoover campaign No other southern Republican has such united backing nor is there another south of the Mason Dixon line who apparently has the claim possessed by the North Carolinian

Would Remove Wilbur

For Cramer to become secretary of the navy however presupposes the elimination of the present head of the navy Curtis D Wilbur who came into the Coolidge cabinet largely upon the recommendation of Mr Hoover himself Thus far Secretary Wilbur has not indicated that he wished to give up Washington life Secretary Wilbur's friends contend that if he was eminent enough to command Mr Hoover's indorsement for the Coolidge cabinet he now is eminent enough to stay in Mr Hoover's own cabinet

The situation is further complicated by the fact that Wilbur and Cramer have been life long friends They were classmates and room mates at the naval academy graduating in the class of '88 They resigned from the navy on the same day and entered business Wilbur going to law and Cramer to the manufacturing business Wilbur became chief justice of the California

MARION JOINS FIGHT TO KEEP GAS TAX FUND

Proposed Change in State Law Would Deprive City of $56,000 Yearly

PROTEST PLANNED

Service Director To Seek Action by Council at Meeting Monday Night

Marion expects to fight against the plan suggested to Gov Myers Y Cooper as part of the state highway program scheme which would deprive this city and other Ohio cities of their annual share of the state gasoline tax according to C A Benedict service director of the city

Marion receives approximately $56 000 from the state gasoline tax which is used for street repair work in accordance with the law

Benedict stated that he would ask council Monday night to instruct the city solicitor to voice the boards protest through a letter to Governor Cooper

Means Serious Handicap

To lose this money stated Mr Benedict would virtually mean the elimination of street repair work or make it necessary for the city to provide funds for this work from some other source

Under the present law the revenue derived from one cent of the tax goes to the state for the construction of new state highways Revenue from the other two cents is divided between the municipalities the state and the county

The state gets 45 per cent of this for highway maintenance the municipalities divide 40 per cent on the basis of automobile registration and 25 per cent is divided equally among the 88 counties

Would Lease Cities Out

The proposed change in distribution does not affect the portion that goes to the state for new highways It will however cut the municipalities out of all participation in the receipts from the other two cents giving all of this money to the state and the counties

The 40 per cent now received by the state would be increased to 50 per cent, the additional five per cent to replace the money which would be lost by the proposed abolishment of road assessments against abutting properties The other 50 per cent would be divided among the counties 15 per cent being divided on the basis of automobile registration 15 per cent on the basis of road mileage and 20 per cent divided equally among the 88 counties

If city council chooses to protest this proposed bill it will be falling in line with a number of other cities which have already put protests to Governor Cooper

Eden! Goal of Doctor

Dr. Pond To Head Search for Garden of Eden

BY JAMES L KILGALLEN
Marion Star Staff Writer

NEW YORK Jan 26—Dr Alonzo Pond noted archaeologist of Beloit college sailed today for Africa in search of the Garden of Eden the birthplace of man

I hope my explorations will help settle the world wide problem of where man originated as well as throw more light on the migration and development of mankind said Dr Pond in an exclusive interview

We will carry on excavations in the northern edge of the Sahara desert in Algeria in the region southeast of the town of Tebessa an old Roman city in north Africa We shall excavate enormous deposits left by prehistoric man who lived in that region 5 000 years ago

I believe it will be found that birthplace of man was in Africa or in the region northeast of Africa—that is in Asia Minor

THE trail leading back to the Garden of Eden has bothered scientists ever since the first archaeologist began working in the old world fields Where was it Will Dr Pond find it Was it in Asia proper Asia Minor or in Africa as Dr Pond believes?

Scientists differ on the question Roy Chapman Andrews has long searched the Gobi desert of Asia for traces of the original man Dr Pond includes age imputed him on his 1928 expedition Other archaeologists have dug up the Nile land from one end to another Sir Flinders Petrie of Egypt and still others have probed in southeast Africa to find the source of wealth which the Queen of Sheba lavished on King Solomon

Dr Pond sailed on the Cunard liner Alaunia accompanied by his wife Mrs Dorothy L Pond and

NEW SHERIFF NOT TO NAME SPECIAL AIDES

Francis Ends Practice of Appointing Corps of Deputies

SAYS NOT AUTHORIZED

Chief Value of Deputized Crew Is as Political Machine, Officer States

Declaring that a corps of special deputy sheriffs is of no value other than as a political machine Sheriff John L Francis today stated that he would make no appointments of unsalaried deputies

An investigation conducted by Francis since he took office less than a month ago it failed to reveal any state statute under which a sheriff has authority to appoint a special deputy sheriff for any definite period of time Officials of the state attorney general's office also failed to find any statute for such appointments which requested for a ruling by the sheriff

Only for Emergencies

According to the sheriff the only authority he has for appointing a special deputy is in cases of emergency when he may deputize any citizen In these cases the authority of the deputized person ceases when the particular case for which the appointment is made ceases to exist as an emergency

Sheriff Francis stated today that he will appoint no deputies for specified periods of time until he is shown a section of law providing for such appointments

Appointment of special deputies by sheriffs has been more or less general throughout the state since 1918 Francis stated today In the majority of cases the special deputies have been appointed for one year and were bonded to the sheriff making the official responsible for their acts

Useful for Politics

As a political machine a large corps of special deputies is of benefit to an official Sheriff Francis believes but this is the only advantage he can see in having such an organization Often the special deputy proves an embarrassment to the official the sheriff points out In discussing the question the sheriff pointed out many instances in Ohio where special deputies turned out to be hi jackers using their badges as a ruse to take liquor from other bootleggers

With the refusal of Sheriff Francis to appoint special deputies Marion county will be without such officers for the first time in many years and will perhaps be one of the few counties in the state without such officials

Under former sheriffs of the county special deputies were said to have numbered as high as 300

Although appointments were given through the state house in many instances no one knew the authority given the deputies by the sheriff's office

PUNCH BOARDS ARE UNDER COVER, REPORT

None Found in Operation After Cleanup Edict, Chief Says

No great results were obtained yesterday by the police in their renewed war on punch board operating in the city

Chief Thompson reported that his men entered several places where they believed boards were in operation but in every case everything was quiet

The case of Lolie Fitchen 25 North Main st who was arrested yesterday for operating a board was postponed yesterday by Judge William R Martin in municipal court

"It may take quite a bit of time to clean out boards declared Chief Thompson this morning They are all operated on a booth system that makes it hard to catch them in activity and I believe that it will be absolutely useless to do anything except catch them operating the board However we are going to bend every effort to keep our word"

A punch board in the city was a hard thing to be yesterday and last night following the announcement in The Star that orders had been issued against them by the police chief according to police reports

Two boards partially punched were found in an alley this morning by men working for the garbage collection department of the city

FORMER KAISER WILHELM

KAISER TO OBSERVE HIS 70TH BIRTHDAY

Former German Ruler Extended Felicitations by Former Subjects

DOORN Holland Jan 26—The man who once was king will observe his 70th birthday tomorrow He is now plain Wilhelm Hohenzollern, but a dozen years ago he was German emperor king of Prussia and the titular head of one of the greatest armies the world has ever seen Even then his rule was slipping under the sledge hammer blows his army was receiving upon the battle line but he occupied his throne as head of a mighty empire with 7 millions under the arms

All week long guests have been coming to Doorn from all parts of Germany to bring felicitations to the silent man of Doorn—the man who once was king He still typifies monarchy and while it is admitted even by his staunchest followers that he will never rule again the monarchist spirit typified in him has been brought prominently forward in the many upon the occasion of this birthday

Army officers notably Field Marshal Von Mackensen—once known as the battering ram of the German army because of the smashing blows of this particular army group—came bearing gifts and felicitations

CITY POLITICAL POT STARTS TO HEAT UP EARLY

Names of Prospective Candidates for Municipal Offices Figure in Forecasts

LONG MAYORALTY LIST

Murphy Not To Enter Race for Reelection, According to Reports

With the primary election seven months away Marion's political pot has already started to bubble and will probably break out into a boil within the next few weeks although no definite word concerning candidates is expected to be forthcoming for several months

The race for the Republican nomination for mayor is expected to furnish most of the fireworks during the coming campaign The way things line up at the present time, no fewer than seven names will appear on the Republican ticket for the chief executive nomination

Murphy's Plans

According to present reports it is doubtful if Mayor Emery Murphy will be a candidate Murphy is filling the unexpired term of the late Mayor Hiser Friends close to the present official say he will not be a candidate for the office although no definite word is forthcoming from the mayor himself

Dame Rumor has it that three present city officials will be in the mayoralty race These three are: P E Prettyman present president of council William H Strayer, director of public safety and O A Benedict service director However none of the three has definitely stated his intention

Along with these three, according to the rumor will be the names of James L Messenger, present county treasurer W C Wooley, former county commissioner, L E Nebergall, agent at the union station and Dr J G Seiter, who formerly held down the chair as chief executive of the city

Democratic Prospect

From the Democratic ranks comes the name of Dr C J Altmaier as a possible candidate

As already stated, none of these men has announced his candidacy and the names are mentioned only because of persistent rumors about the city.

Patton for Solicitor

From early indications Carter Patton assistant city solicitor, will carry the Republican banner in the race for the solicitorship of the city It is expected that Patton will enter the primary unopposed

If he wins the nomination Carter

Borah, Good American, Only Chicken Feed 1928 Good, Watch 1929 Trotzky and Stalin

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

SENATOR BORAH, good American, says that if we build ships without making arrangements for victory to Britain we [illegible] shipbuilding race with [illegible] necessary, why not [illegible]

England couldn't afford it and [illegible] we shall never attack England unless we are first at war.

The British while they could, [illegible] seas, and were proud of it. Whether didn't like it could not. That condition existed [illegible] when Nelson at Trafalgar wiped out Napoleon's chances of British conquest up to 1924.

Now it's Germany's turn now. German submarines, fast cruisers will answer any question from any other nation, and this country doesn't have to answer readily.

To him that hath shall be given. Stock exchange seats, recently going for $500,000 in value, have enticed some tired of watching the ticker to retire and look at the green grass.

Now 265 new seats will be added to the 1,300 membership. From the moment every member will get $5,000. Give that would have cost a good deal of money, even on Wall street. It is just "chicken feed" now.

MR. WHITING, secretary of commerce, says 1928 was the greatest year in production and trade ever recorded. That's pleasing.

But wait until you see the figures for 1929. "Prosperity is the normal condition of this nation," as James Speer said. There is nothing to frighten us but our own prosperity.

As gently as possible tell the hearts sick with the Wall street "feed out." Enthusiasm carried dozens of rock issues into new high territory. It was the strongest, most active session of the stock market this year.

Federal reserve bank made a fine statement. Brokers loans were only a little increased. People have money to pay for what they buy and the brokers demand big margins.

On the whole, DON'T SELL SHORT. You might lose.

TROTZKY is reported to be in Afganistan, raising an army to march against Russian communists, who threw him out.

One hundred and fifty of Trotzky's followers are locked in "rigorous isolation" for stirring discontent among workers and soldiers.

Trotzky was a good military leader, defending Bolshevism against allied capitalistic attacks. He then had the heavy armies of young Russia back of him, full of revolutionary enthusiasm.

How much can he do against Stalin, with such an army as he could raise? Probably not much.

GROW your own fur coats at home. Vernon Bailey of the agricultural department tells you that muskrats, supposed to need big swamps, can be raised, like rabbits or guinea pigs, in small pens. They need only enough water to keep them comfortably wet and cool in summer. This will interest California rabbit raisers, among others.

Victor Berger, honest, able, well-educated member of congress, what [illegible] may think of his theories, remembers that muskrats sold for 10 cent apiece in the streets of Milwaukee when he was a public-school teacher.

Berger is convinced Socialist, has a hard fight. The price of labor, of automobiles, radios, washing [illegible] gone up almost as much as the price of muskrat skins. Arguments are not as good as they were.

POOR Gandhi the Mahatma, believes he can fight British trade by men nocturning cloth by hand in India. He will start another boycott and [illegible] on cloth.

It will try to fight modern taxicabs with [illegible] in cabs. You can't change [illegible] unless you keep up with it.

Former Senator Underwood died [illegible]. He was a disappointed man. There he hoped to achieve the [illegible] at nomination. From that [illegible] man recovers.

In Buenos Aires, Doris Giannini, [illegible] driver was killed while his [illegible] an automobile race. The [illegible] N. Y. That will make the [illegible] a little more superstitious. [illegible] had nothing to do with [illegible] death.

Chicago Police Again Make Drive on Criminal Element

CHICAGO, Jan. 26—Four hundred [illegible] arrested gunmen and "racketeers" [illegible] and here today following a second roundup by police and [illegible] raiders. SOUTH DRIVES ON FOR POST IN CABINET

Formidable Array of Southern Republicans Gather on Miami Beach

PUSH CRAMER'S NAME

Recall How North Carolina Stepped Aside for Wilbur for Navy Portfolio

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 26—The drive of the new Republican south for a place in the Hoover cabinet is daily assuming larger proportions.

While the president-elect pursues the sail fish and tarpon in Florida's celebrated keys, there is gathering on Miami Beach a formidable array of southern Republicans awaiting his return. Their numbers increase daily—in proportion to their determination that cabinet recognition must be given the fact that four states of the erstwhile solid-south became converted to Republicanism last November.

The spearhead of this drive is Stuart W. Cramer, wealthy North Carolina manufacturer, and the purpose of it is to make him secretary of the navy. He has the backing of most of the new Republican leaders of the south, who were active in the Hoover campaign. No other southern Republican has such united backing, nor is there another south of the Mason-Dixon line, who apparently has the claim possessed by the North Carolinian.

Would Remove Wilbur

For Cramer to become secretary of the navy, however, presupposes the elimination of the present head of the navy, Curtis D. Wilbur, who came into the Coolidge cabinet largely upon the recommendation of Mr. Hoover himself. Thus far Secretary Wilbur has not indicated that he wished to give up Washington life. Secretary Wilbur's friends contend that if he was eminent enough to command Mr. Hoover's indorsement for the Coolidge cabinet, he now is eminent enough to stay in Mr. Hoover's own cabinet.

The situation is further complicated by the fact that Wilbur and Cramer have been life long friends. They were classmates and room mates at the naval academy, graduating in the class of '88. They resigned from the navy on the same day and entered business. Wilbur going to law and Cramer to the manufacturing business. Wilbur became chief justice of the California

ALMA RUNS WILD

ALMA RUBENS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 26—Alma Rubens, motion picture star, leaped from a moving automobile here yesterday and ran down the street, pursued by a doctor who was driving her to a sanitarium, according to the police.

The actress it was reported to police, stabbed the physician with a paper knife when he overtook her.

Miss Rubens evaded her pursuer and police were called out to search for her.

LEGION READY FOR DISTRICT MEETING

Four Counties To Be Represented at Gathering Here Sunday

Officers and members of all American Legion posts in the northern section of the Central Ohio district will meet in this city Sunday at the Legion Dugout on South High st. Morrow, Union, Delaware and Marion counties are represented in this district.

The meeting will get under way at 10 a. m. with reports of local post conditions.

Program For Afternoon

The afternoon session will be taken up principally with post problems and their solutions. Particular attention will be given to plans for the proper observance of "Know the Legion Week," which has been designated as the week of Feb. 3 to 9 by national headquarters. During the week it is hoped to acquaint the public with the activities of the Legion.

Figures given out by the department headquarters at Columbus show that there were 1,215 persons eligible for membership in the American Legion in Delaware county during 1928 with 122 paid up memberships, or 10 per cent.

In Marion county there were 1,962 eligibles with 227 or 16 per cent membership, while in Morrow county the percentage was 15.5 with 113 members out of a possible 727.

Union County Figures

Union county ran Marion county a close second with 16 per cent membership showing 157 paid up members out of 9.7 eligibles.

The northern section, comprising the four counties, had 719 members, or 15.8 per cent of its eligibility list of 4,881.

The sessions Sunday will be in charge of Carl F. Ebert, chairman of the northern section of the central district.

A conference of the central district will be held at Mt. Vernon on Sunday, Feb. 3. This meeting will be in charge of Sig. L. Weisskerz chairman, of Columbus.

A large delegation of local legionnaires is expecting to attend the conference in Mt. Vernon. The discussion on membership problems will be led by Carl F. Ebert.

SAVE FOUR MEN

Fishermen Taken off Crumbling Ice Floes in Lake Erie

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 26—Four fishermen taken off crumbling ice floes in Lake Erie by coast guardsmen last night after having been marooned for three hours, were recovering today from their exposure to the elements. They suffered intensely from the cold.

Those rescued were James Reardon, 20; Leon Jovenet, 40; and James Eberhardt, 23, all of Buffalo, and Henry Willis, 27, of Lackawanna.

The rescue was made in the nick of time. Only a small portion remained of the original floe on which they had gone adrift.

PEKIN, Jan. 26—Missionary reports from the southern district of the province of Honan today declared that a roving band of 10,000 communist bandits are keeping the populace there in a constant state of terror.

MARION JOINS FIGHT TO KEEP GAS TAX FUND

Proposed Change in State Law Would Deprive City of $56,000 Yearly

PROTEST PLANNED

Service Director To Seek Action by Council at Meeting Monday Night

Marion expects to fight against the plan suggested to Gov. Myers Y. Cooper as part of the state highway program scheme which would deprive this city and other Ohio cities of their annual share of the state gasoline tax, according to O. A. Benedict, service director of the city.

Marion receives approximately $56,000 from the state gasoline tax, which is used for street repair work in accordance with the law.

Benedict stated that he would ask council Monday night to instruct the city solicitor to voice the board's protest through a letter to Governor Cooper.

Means Serious Handicap

"To lose this money," stated Mr. Benedict, "would virtually mean the elimination of street repair work, or make it necessary for the city to provide funds for this work from some other source."

Under the present law the revenue derived from one cent of the tax goes to the state for the construction of new state highways. Revenue from the other two cents is divided between the municipalities, the state and the county.

The state gets 45 per cent of this for highway maintenance, the municipalities divide 30 per cent on the basis of automobile registration and 25 per cent is divided equally among the 88 counties.

Would Leave Cities Out

The proposed change in distribution does not affect the portion that goes to the state for new highways. It will, however, cut the municipalities out of all participation in the receipts from the other two cents, giving all of this money to the state and the counties.

The 45 per cent now received by the state would be increased to 50 per cent, the additional five per cent to replace the money which would be lost by the proposed abolishment of road assessments against abutting properties. The other 50 per cent would be divided among the counties, 15 per cent being divided on the basis of automobile registration, 15 per cent on the basis of road mileage, and 20 per cent divided equally among the 88 counties.

If city council chooses to protest this proposed bill it will be falling in line with a number of other cities which have already sent protests to Governor Cooper.

LIMA MAN NAMED FISH, GAME CHIEF

Advisory Board for Department Selected by Perry L. Green

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26—Appointment of John W. Thompson, Lima, Republican, as chief of the division of fish and game, state agriculture department, was announced today by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper. The position pays $3,600 a year. Thompson was selected by Perry L. Green, director of agriculture, to succeed D. O. Thompson, Coshocton, Democrat, present incumbent. The appointment is effective immediately.

The governor, also, stated that the following board has been chosen to advise with officials of the state fish and game division and on all matters in the state agriculture department pertaining to conservation of natural resources:

Former Lieut. Gov. Charles H. Lewis, Columbus, chairman; Walter H. Kirk, Fremont, master of the Ohio State Grange; Prof. Raymond C. Osburn, department of zoology and entomology, Ohio State university; I. J. Eden! Goal of Doctor

Dr. Pond To Head Search for Garden of Eden

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
Marion Star Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Dr. Alonzo Pond, noted archaeologist of Beloit college, sailed today for Africa in search of the Garden of Eden, the birthplace of man.

"I hope my explorations will help settle the world-wearing problem of where man originated, as well as throw more light on the migration and development of mankind," said Dr. Pond in an exclusive interview.

"We will carry on excavations in the northern edge of the Sahara desert in Algeria, in the region southeast of the town of Tebessa an old Roman city in north Africa. We shall excavate enormous deposits left by prehistoric man who lived in that region 35,000 years ago.

"I believe it will be found that birthplace of man was in Africa, or in the region northeast of Africa—that is, in Asia Minor."

THE trail leading back to the Garden of Eden has bothered scientists ever since the first archaeologist began working in the old world fields. Where was it? Will Dr. Pond find it? Was it in Asia proper, Asia Minor or in Africa, as Dr. Pond believes?

Scientists differ on the question. Roy Chapman Andrews has long searched the Gobi desert of Asia for traces of the original man. Dr. Pond, incidentally, accompanied him on his 1925 expedition. Other archaeologists have dug up the Holy Land from one end to another seeking the Garden of Eden. And still others have probed in southeast Africa to find the source of wealth which the Queen of Sheba lavished on King Solomon.

Dr. Pond sailed on the Cunard liner Mauretania, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy L. Pond, and Members of the executive committee for 1929 chosen at the same time are C. A. Krimmel, chairman, Mrs. L. M. Harmon, Mrs. O. E. Thomas, Mrs. William Knochel, Mrs. William Hinds and R. J. Hacker.

At the closing session tonight a play, "Where There's a Will There's a Way" will be presented by the Agriculture department boys and a play, "Honest Peggy" will be presented by the girls of the Home Economic department.

14 MEN ENTOMBED BY MINE EXPLOSION

Rescue Crews Organized To Free Miners; One Killed

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 26—One man was killed and between 10 to 14 are believed entombed following a terrific explosion early today in the No. 5 mine of the Kingston Pocahontas Coal Co. at Kingston.

From 35 to 40 miners escaped through exits opposite the side where the blast occurred.

The explosion was so severe that a blacksmith shop on the surface was wrecked and a mine building was damaged.

Under the direction of Robert M. Lambie, chief of the state department of mines, rescue squads were being mobilized to release the imprisoned men.

ANOTHER CLEVELAND NIGHT CLUB CLOSED

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26—Another of the city's night clubs was closed today as a result of the police drive against the more violent forms of "night life" here. Safety Director Ed Barry last night ordered the closing of the Apex club on the East Side. Patrons of the night clubs have charged that they sometimes become disorderly, dangerous, and that bootlegging is carried on in some of them.

NEW SHERIFF NOT TO NAME SPECIAL AIDES

Francis Ends Practice of Appointing Corps of Deputies

SAYS NOT AUTHORIZED

Chief Value of Deputized Crew Is as Political Machine, Officer States

Declaring that a corps of special deputy sheriffs is of no value other than as a political machine, Sheriff John J. Francis today stated that he would make no appointments of unsalaried deputies.

An investigation conducted by Francis since he took office less than a month ago has failed to reveal any state statute under which a sheriff has authority to appoint a special deputy sheriff for any definite period of time. Officials of the state attorneys general's office also failed to find any statute for such appointments when requested for a ruling by the sheriff.

Only for Emergencies

According to the sheriff, the only authority he has for appointing a special deputy is in cases of emergency when he may deputize any citizen. In these cases the authority of the deputized person ceases when the particular case for which the appointment is made ceases to exist as an emergency.

Sheriff Francis stated today that he will appoint no deputies for specified periods of time until he is shown a section of law providing for such appointments.

Appointment of special deputies by sheriffs has been more or less general throughout the state since 1918, Francis stated today. In the majority of cases the special deputies have been appointed for one year and were bonded to the sheriff, making the official responsible for their acts.

Useful for Politics

As a political machine a large corps of special deputies is of benefit to an official, Sheriff Francis believes, but this is the only advantage he can see in having such an organization. Often the special deputy proves an embarrassment to the official, the sheriff points out. In discussing the question the sheriff pointed out many instances in Ohio where special deputies turned out to be hi-jackers, using their badges as a ruse to take liquor from other bootleggers.

With the refusal of Sheriff Francis to appoint special deputies, Marion county will be without such officers for the first time in many years and will perhaps be one of the few counties in the state without such officials.

Under former sheriffs of the county special deputies are said to have numbered as high as 300.

Although special deputies appointed throughout the state, have, in many instances, assumed the authority given regular deputies, they are without authority under the law, according to Sheriff Francis. Nor do they have authority to carry weapons as they have done in many instances, the sheriff declares.

PUNCH BOARDS ARE UNDER COVER, REPORT

None Found In Operation After Cleanup Edict, Chief Says

No great results were obtained yesterday by the police in their proposed war on punch board operating in the city.

Chief Thompson reported that his men entered several places where they believed boards were in operation but in every case everything was "quiet."

The case of Eddie Burcham, 232 North Main st., who was arrested yesterday for operating a board was postponed yesterday by Judge William R. Martin in municipal court.

"It may take quite a bit of time to clean out boards, declared Chief Thompson this morning. "They are all operated on a bootleg system that makes it hard to catch them in activity and I believe that it will be absolutely useless to do anything except catch them operating the board. However, we are going to bend every effort to keep our word."

A punch board in the city was a hard thing to see yesterday and last night following the announcement in The Star that orders had been issued against them by the police chief according to police accounts.

Two boards, partially punched, were found in an alley this morning by *men working for the garbage col*lection department of the city.

WOMAN SENTENCED TO THREE MONTHS IN JAIL

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26—Sentenced to spend three months behind the bars, Miss Edna Lininger, pretty confessed bootlegger of about 35 summers, fainted when she heard the sentence imposed upon her in federal court here today.

A doctor was called and he declared her condition was such as to prohibit her being confined in jail. Federal Judge Benson W. Hough, it was indicated, will grant the woman a stay of sentence. The comely defendant hails from near Washington C. H., and is alleged to have run liquor from Cleveland and Detroit to Columbus.

HONORED BY FRIENDS

FORMER KAISER WILHELM

KAISER TO OBSERVE HIS 70TH BIRTHDAY

Former German Ruler Extended Felicitations by Former Subjects

DOORN, Holland, Jan. 26—The man who once was king will observe his 70th birthday tomorrow. He is now plain Wilhelm Hohenzollern, but a dozen years ago he was German emperor, king of Prussia and the titular head of one of the greatest armies the world has ever seen. Even then his rule was slipping under the sledge hammer blows his army was receiving upon the battle line, but he occupied his throne as head of a mighty empire with dominions over the seas.

All week long guests have been coming to Doorn from all parts of Germany to bring felicitations to the "silent man of Doorn"—the man who once was king. He still typified monarchy and, while it is admitted even by his staunchest followers, that he will never rule again, the monarchist spirit typified in him has been brought prominently forward in Germany upon the occasion of his birthday.

Army officers, notably Field Marshal Von Mackensen—once known as the "battering ram of the German army" because of the smashing blows of this particular army group—came bearing gifts and felicitations.

GEORGE S. M'GUIRE DIES AT HOME HERE

Rites To Be Held Monday for Former Insurance Man and Masonic Leader

George S. McGuire, former insurance agent and prominent member of the Masonic order, passed away at his home, 205 East Center st., yesterday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock. He had been seriously ill of heart exhaustion the last month.

In his long career as a Mason, Mr. McGuire became a member of practically all branches in the order. He was a member of Marion lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., Marion chapter No. 62, R. and A. M., Marion Council No. 22, R. and S. M., Marion Commandery No. 30, Knights Templar, and Dayton consistory, Scottish Rite. He also was past commander of the Marion Commandery, Knights Templar and past thrice Illustrious master of Marion council No. 22.

He was born in Bradystown, Pa., on March 25, 1870 to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGuire. He married Miss Mary R. Postle in Sidney, O., in 1890.

Shortly after his birth the McGuire family moved to LaRue, where he spent most of his childhood. Later in life he became a school teacher in that village. He then moved to Marion where he had resided ever since.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Ernest T. McGuire, of Kalamazoo, New York, a brother, James, north of LaRue, and two grandchildren, George and Thomas.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the C. E. Curtis & Co. funeral chapel in charge of the Marion Masonic lodge. Burial will be in Marion cemetery.

SCHWAB SAILS

Steel Corporation Head Starts 181st Atlantic Trip

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of Bethlehem Steel Corp., sailed early today on his 181st trip across the Atlantic. He was accompanied by Dr. S. A. Brown, his personal physician.

Mr. Schwab said there has been too much speculation on the stock market and that some efforts should be made by the authorities to curtail it. It is dangerous to the country, he said. He was confident, however, that business will continue to be good and said he favored the passage by congress of laws favoring the American merchant marine and encourazing its growth.

SEEK FLAPPER BANDIT

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26—A dapper bandit who, with the aid of a male companion, robbed Mrs. Minnette Stahl of jewelry valued at $5,500, was sought by police here today.

CITY POLITICAL POT STARTS TO HEAT UP EARLY

Names of Prospective Candidates for Municipal Offices Figure In Forecasts

LONG MAYORALTY LIST

Murphy Not To Enter Race for Reelection, According to Reports

With the primary election seven months away, Marion's political pot has already started to bubble and will probably break out into a boil within the next few weeks, although no definite word concerning candidates is expected to be forthcoming for several months.

The race for the Republican nomination for mayor is expected to furnish most of the fireworks during the coming campaign. The way things line up at the present time no fewer than seven names will appear on the Republican ticket for the chief executive nomination.

Murphy's Plans

According to present reports it is doubtful if Mayor Emery Murphy will be a candidate. Murphy is filling the unexpired term of the late Mayor Hazen. Friends close to the present official say he will not be a candidate for the office, although no definite word is forthcoming from the mayor himself.

Dame Rumor has it that three present city officials will be in the mayoralty race. These three are: E. E. Prettyman, present president of council; William H. Strayer, director of public safety and O. A. Benedict, service director. However, none of the three has definitely stated his intentions.

Along with these three, according to the rumor, will be the names of James H. Messenger, present county treasurer, W. C. Wooley, former county commissioner, L. E. Nebergall, agent at the union station and Dr. J. G. Selter, who formerly held down the chair as chief executive of the city.

Democratic Prospect

From the Democratic ranks comes the name of Dr. O. J. Altmaier as a possible candidate.

As already stated, none of these men has announced his candidacy and the names are mentioned only because of persistent rumors about the city.

Patton for Solicitor

From early indications Carter Patton, assistant city solicitor, will carry the Republican banner in the race for the solicitorship of the city. It is expected that Patton will enter the primary unopposed.

If he wins the nomination Carter

RUSH AID TO PLANE DOWN IN MOUNTAINS

Ship Located in Eastern Nevada; Missing Since Thursday Noon

RENO, Nevada, Jan. 26—Aid was being rushed today to the Boeing airplane, which with three persons on board, was forced down in the Ruby mountains of eastern Nevada.

Missing since shortly before noon Thursday, the plane was located just before dusk last night by Pilot Harry Hucking of the Boeing company at a point near Secret Pass in the Ruby range.

One man was standing by the fallen plane which did not appear to be badly damaged, according to Hucking's report upon his arrival here.

STEUBENVILLE MAN SHOT, NEAR DEATH

Dr. Frank L. Bowsher Attacked by Unknown Man; Motive Is Lacking

STEUBENVILLE, Jan. 26—Shot down by an unknown assailant here last night, Dr. Frank L. Bowsher, 52, prominent physician lay near death in a hospital here today with three bullet wounds in his body.

The shooting took place in front of the doctor's residence. Neither the victim or members of his family could ascribe a motive for the attack. Before lapsing into unconsciousness, Bowsher told police that his assailant appeared to be a foreigner, of medium build and of a dark complexion.

Bowsher was shot in the right side, the right shoulder and the right eye. Physicians at the hospital held little hope for his recovery.

WIRES TO RADIO STATION CUT AS HUGHES TALKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—John Elwood, director of the WMCA radio station declared today he would demand a police investigation of the cutting of telephone wires which prevented the broadcasting of Charles Evans Hughes' speech before the Bronx Bar association last night.

Mr. Hughes bitterly arraigned dishonorable elements of the New York bar and urged cooperation among lawyers to eliminate abuses, such as "ambulance chasing" and quibbling delays. He suggested elimination of archaic procedure which interferes with speedy litigation.

Successful Actors Are Numbered Among Veteran Frank Dean's 'Graduate' List

Now Nearing 65th Year, Dean Is Still Active After Long and Busy Career

BY HALLIE HOUCK
Marion Star Staff Writer

DEAN, according to Webster, fits undergraduates for graduating, and Frank Dean of the Myrtyl Ross Players has done just that—fitted Myrtyl Ross and others, including Arthur Cole, of Broadway fame, for later years of success in the theatrical world.

It started like this.

The Lillian Lyons Co., of which Lillian Lyons and her husband, Frank Dean, were owners, was playing at a park near Grand Rapids, Mich. Close by, in the town of Muir, lived a girl who aspired to stage fame. Her name was Myrtyl Ross.

Dean hired her, at 15 years of age, to do a long character ingenue role in "Golden Giant Mine." The veterans in the company objected to having a "greenhorn" take one of the leading roles, but after Miss Ross had finished that night, she was the center of a group of admiring troupers. Dean's judgment had proven true, for "Myrtyl" as he knows her, had taken her lines like a woman of years of experience on the stage. She stayed with him two or three years after this first appearance.

Favorite with Associates

Mae Kirby was just as young in the business when she first worked with Dean. From the bottom of their hearts, the players at the Grand theater love and admire this grand old man of stock.

Soon he will be "65 years young," with a young outlook on life and a desire to be surrounded by young people. Youth is life, and Dean loves living.

His first role that he remembers was as a landlord in "The Lady of Lyons," which was followed by roles as an extra with actors of the caliber of Booth, Barrett, McCullough and others. The Townsend Dramatic Co. was his first employer. He was then 16 years of age.

Twice he has retired from the stage, the last time about five years ago, when he stayed away from the footlights for about three years.

In the summers occasionally and during retirements Dean and his wife go to their roomy, flower-bowered home in Muir, Mich., where he spends his time with the hobbies he loves, fancy chickens, strawberries, raspberries and books.

Last year while on a visit to his home, he coached the high school play and also helped with a religious play in the church. Mrs. Dean has definitely given up the stage and declines invitations to assist the Muir high school and dramatic clubs of the town.

FRANK DEAN

Married 43 Years

Dean is proud that he and his wife have been married 43 years, a record in the theatrical profession.

Dean and his folks left Michigan early in his life for the east, where he was brought up.

"Yankees," he proudly says, when asked what his parents were, "good old Vermont Yankees."

When he had been about two years on the road, the actor went to Owosso high school, Owosso, Mich., from which he graduated.

Dean can not begin to approximate the number of plays he has appeared in, in stock, one-night stands, etc., in his almost 50 years of stage life.

Before the old Grand Opera house burned down here, Dean played there during fair week with the Colonial Stock Co.

Sailors from French and English cruisers were in the audience when one of his engagements was in St. John's, Newfoundland. United States, Canada and Mexico all are familiar to him in the record of his theatrical career.

Character old men are Dean's favorite roles, one of his best of which he recalls in "Way Down East."

Old Time Thrillers

In the old days when audiences began to diminish in size the companies put on "East Lynn," "Camille," or other good "tear shows" and the box office receipts increased. People in those days liked the old dramatic thrillers. Today they want to laugh.

The movies Dean "can't see for dust," to put it moderately, but from what he has read and knows of the "talkies," he thinks that there are possibilities in them.

A life which has been lived to the utmost, been filled with hard knocks, real pleasures and which has been treated like a great game—that's the way Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dean have lived it, and that's why it has been so successful.

BUILDING ACTIVITY SHOWING REVIVAL

Five Permits Issued This Week for Projects Estimated at $12,500

Building activity in Marion hit its stride this week with the issuance of five building permits at the office of the city clerk. The five permits represent a total estimated construction cost of $12,500.

Two of the permits were for garages costing $300 and $400; one for a $6,000 dwelling, one for a $5,000 filling station and the other for remodeling a dwelling at an approximate cost of $800.

Will Praises Col. House

Ranks Texan as One of Nation's Greatest Statesmen; Knobs on Doors Is Greatest Need of Present Day Auto; Negroes Have Great School

By WILL ROGERS

I get tired slamming that door.
Th' dang thing never will stay shut.
Hurrah for the guy who invented windows!
Are you in?
This is easier.
Please Slam the Door.

They'd climb in and out the windows.

WELL, all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I gaze at out over the footlights while trying to act a fool for the Natives. You know a fellow that was out front the other night and come back in my dressing room and we had a fine visit. And funny thing it was the first time I had ever met him personally. I thought I had personally run onto about all the men that have been mixed up in our National affairs. But here was one that I honestly believe had more influence on American affairs in our generation than any other ten men, and that would include Presidents too. It was Colonel House.

Just think the part that man played during the entire eight years of the Wilson Administration. We had all formed all kinds of opinions and ideas about what kind of a fellow he was, and what manner of man to get this hold on the brain of a man like Wilson. Well from the minute you meet him you know he's got something. He is quiet spoken, but you know he "savies" what he is talking about. Funny thing about that fellow. You know he and Wilson kinder had a falling out along about the time of one of those trips to Paris to get the League of Nations thing fixed up. The President kinder jarred loose from him. But you notice Mr. Wilson dident do so good afterwards. Nobody knows what all the advice that House give to Mr. Wilson was. But whatever it was, the minute it stopped, you could tell it.

Controlled Destinies

Just think of a quiet little fellow from away off down in those cedar breaks of that wide old State of Texas, holding no office, having no official capacity, yet really controlling the destinies of perhaps not only our 110 million, but the ultimate outcome of millions in other Countries, be alone and single handed talked and negotiated with every European Leader long before we ourselves got into the war. Wouldent his real personal opinion and absolute down to earth knowledge of what happened during those eventful years, be the greatest thing we could possibly know? That little fellow knows MORE about the war than any man in America. Well Sir, do you know I introduced him to the audience, for here was a fellow who I knew that nine tenths of them after all the reading about him had never seen him, and he got one of the biggest receptions I have heard in the Theater. Pershings was the biggest. I kinder felt like a lot of those people felt like he had never got any too square a deal in the whole thing, and I think they admire the fact that he has never put up a holler or let out a squawk. He has told in his books lots of things that happened, but Lord, what he knows that he never HAS TOLD.

All Gone

Well, the Automobile Guys all sobered up and got out of town, or maybe they dident, but hey got out anyhow. I have given the whole industry one year to put a door knob, or fastener on a car that everybody in the car dont have to take turns after you get started slamming it to see if its fastened. If you had to slam House doors like you do auto doors to keep em shut, people wouldent use em. They would get used to climing in through the windows. Thats why you see so many Chouffers; there is very few families have members strong enough to open an automobile door. You first turn the handle, then you start trying to push it with you hand. You soon find that dont work, then you try and get your knee against it and see if that wont push it open. There has been more people mashed their fingers in an Automobile door being slammed by somebody else in the party, than there was minor casualties in the war. If all mashed fingers from slamming automobiles doors was laid end to end it would build a cordurey road of fingers across the continent. If Raskob will get his mind on that and off that Democratic deficiency he will be doing a greater good than arguing with those Republicans.

You cant get nowhere arguing with a Republican. They got the most votes. Its just like trying to win an argument with the Boss. Or a clerk arguing with a customer. Dont you remember the old Slogan, that was originated by John Smith when he first started trading with the Indians, "The customer is always right, but give nothing back." That's the way it should be with the Democrats, "The Republicans are always right." Of course we all know they are not, in fact I doubt if they ever was right, but as long as they got the most votes why how you going to argue with em?

Wonderful Buildings

Last spring traveling down in Alabama, I had a chance to go by the Great Negro school of Tuskeegee, founded by Booker T. Washington. Had a great time there. Heard eighteen hundred trained voices sing Negro Spirituals, AND HOW. Why its the best run place you ever saw. Wonderful buildings, beautiful grounds, why its bigger than Harvard, and got a better football team. Well, there is a great fellow runs it, Dr. Moton. He has had it ever since Booker T. died, and he was Washington's right hand man before that.

Well, he is a great fellow, he was in to see me here yesterday, he had just come by Washington and had a long chat with President Coolidge, and one with the next batter. He told Mr. Coolidge a story and he said The President laughed like everything at it, he and Mr. Coolidge was talking about how the Negroes had kinder stayed out of the last election, that is as a race.

A White man bought a pig from old Negro Jim Davis, took him home and the old "Shoat" got out and went back home. Another White man come along and bought the pig, has always heard that you white fellows was so much smarter than us Niggers, now you all ought to be smart enough to go off and settle that matter among yourselves without coming and axing a poor old ignorant nigger to help you out." And thats the way Dr. Moton told Mr. Coolidge they did during the late Republican uprising. Let the White Folks fight it out among themselves.

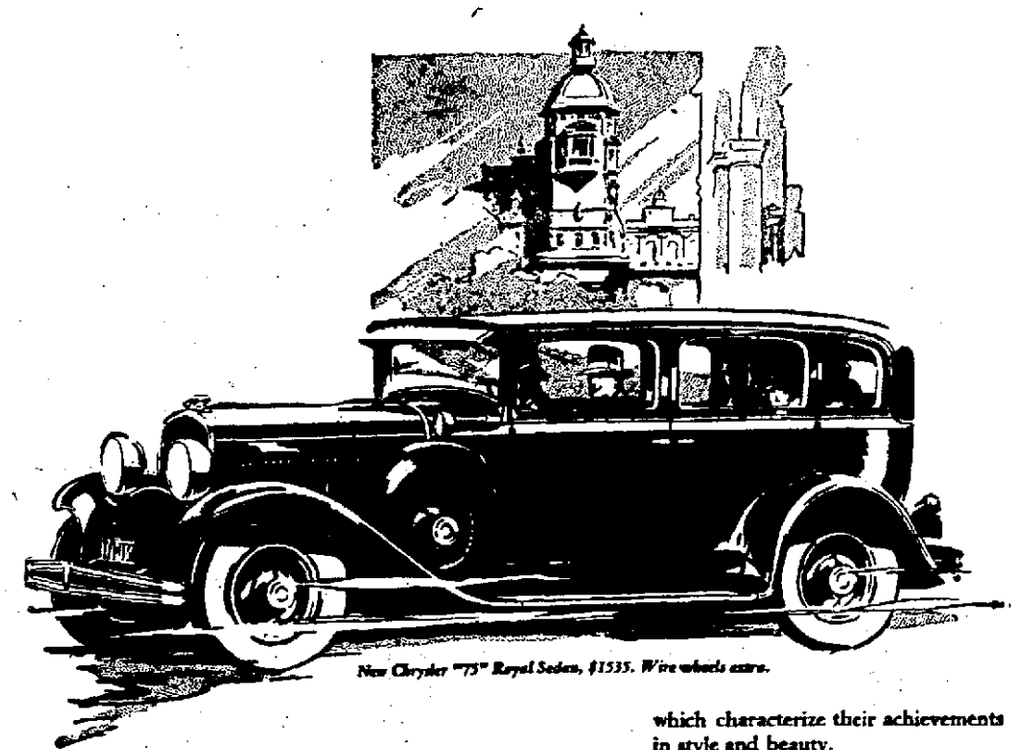
A CHRYSLER MOTORS PRODUCT



New Chrysler "75" Royal Sedan, $1535. Wire wheels extra.

In Speed, Dash, Stamina, the public knows
CHRYSLER
ranks with cars costing hundreds of dollars more

CHRYSLER popularity is due not only to the public acceptance of Chrysler originality in style and beauty, but to the acclaim of the freshness of Chrysler engineering and performance.

Chrysler engineers bring to the task of developing their new cars the same originality and the same enterprise which characterize their achievements in style and beauty.

Chrysler engineers, from the beginning, have applied what is best in the existing art and practice of the industry, but have not been content to accept even such features without subjecting them to their own improving touch.

In addition, they have devised and developed so many entirely new features that Chrysler cars are in no sense like anything else that runs.

That is why the speed, the dash, the stamina you find in Chrysler can scarcely be equaled, much less surpassed, in cars costing even so much as a thousand dollars more.

New Chrysler "75"—Nine body styles priced from $1535 to $2345. New Chrysler "65"—Six body styles priced from $1040 to $1145. Wire wheels extra. All prices f. o. b. factory.

All Chrysler engines are provided with counterweighted 7-bearing crankshafts. An expensive feature, but one that provides an almost incredible engine smoothness and remarkable long life.

Marion County Church Workers' School To Open Monday

LARGE ENROLLMENT RECORD ANTICIPATED

Final Preparations for Study To Be Made at Meeting Sunday

SCHOOL TO END FEB. 1

Leaders Named for Classes Assigned for Study at First Presbyterian Church

The Marion County Standard Training school for church workers of all denominations, which will be held in the First Presbyterian church from Jan. 28 to Feb. 1, is expected to surpass the remarkable record made by the last one, conducted here three years ago.

At that time the school earned the title of having issued the largest number of certificates of credits for the number enrolled, of all church schools conducted in the United States that year.

It was necessary for the officials here to make selections of teachers late in December, in order that convenient dates might be arranged.

Books Ready

All of the four classes have study books which they may get at mass meeting to be held Sunday afternoon, or at the opening school session Monday night. Lessons are studied and during the 50-minute class period the teacher delivers a lecture. Discussions are held, and at the end of the five night study period examinations are given and successful applicants are granted certificates of credit. These certificates are considered in the church on the same basis as a teaching certificate in the public schools.

Already the entire faculty of Vernon Heights school has enrolled, together with several other persons desiring the course of study. A mass meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the church for enrollment and purchasing of books.

Schools Pay Fees

Investigation shows that a great many of the Sunday schools in the city have paid the registration fee of $1 so that the teachers may attend the school. On the last night of the school three years ago, there were approximately 250 enrolled.

These schools are conducted at intervals all over the United States, and are considered a vital part of church work.

School will be conducted from 7 to 9 o'clock each night with a 20 minute assembly for worship.

Class Leaders

The Rev. John A. Carriker, pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church is in charge of the class on "The Life of Christ." The Rev. Frank A Shultz, superintendent of leadership training, Ohio Council of Religious Education, will teach the class on "The Principles of Teaching." "The Teaching Work of the Church," will be taught in the classes conducted by the Rev. Maxwell Hall, general secretary, Washington County Council of Religious Education. "Story Telling in the Church," a study for teachers of beginners and primary children, will be the class taught by Mrs. R. M. Sandy, superintendent children's division, Ohio Council of Religious Education.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH CLASS ENTERTAINED

The first meeting of the Alpha Delta class of Central Christian church was held Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Barney Montague, 141 Blaine av., with Mrs. L H. Detrick and Mrs Hayden Imbody as assistant hostesses. Routine business was followed by a social hour in which Mrs. Forest Hill won first honors and Mrs Katharine Watts second honors. Miss Garnet Smith was presented the guessing box. Feb. 21 a homecoming party will be held at the church.

A Few Questions

A SERMONETTE

BY THE REV. JAMES M. FISHER

Director Lee Street Presbyterian Church

DO you feel discouraged? God told Joshua, "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life; as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee nor forsake thee." Christ said: "Come unto me, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart and ye shall find rest unto your souls." Take courage—get up on the mountain tops. Remember, God loves you.

Do you see the beautiful things of God?

"The heavens declare the glory of God;

And the firmament showeth his handiwork.

Day unto day uttereth speech,

And night unto night showeth knowledge."

"Oh Jehovah, our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth."

The beautiful things of God are honorable, just, pure, lovely—let all think on these things!

Do you get by attending to your religious duties? Such duties should be a pleasure and a joy to you. May each Sabbath find you in your place during Divine Worship. You'll have a clearer vision and a better feeling this coming week if you go to God's house for prayer and meditation.

"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord."

Do you want a better world in which to live. You can have such if you'll help to make it better. Read the story of the Good Samaritan, and listen to Christ's words: "Go and do thou likewise."

HAS TWO CHURCHES

New Nazarene Pastor Also Head of South Canaan Congregation

In taking over the pastorate of the First Church of the Nazarene, South State and East Columbia sts., the Rev. D. E. Miller, of Mt. Vernon, who came to this city the first week in January, also took charge of the South Canaan church, near this city.

Every Sunday afternoon Sunday school is conducted at the rural church at 1:30 o'clock and a sermon is given at 2:30 o'clock. This has been the practice of Nazarene preachers for two or three years.

The congregation was formerly of the Protestant Methodist belief, and still worship in the Methodist church, but due to some unknown cause, the church disbanded.

Having no minister, the congregation joined the Nazarene church and has held services with the Nazarene organization every Sunday.

PLAN SERVICE

Day of Prayer for Missions To Be Observed at Calvary Church

The Rev. E. Radebaugh, pastor of Calvary Evangelical church, has announced that the church will observe the Day Of Prayer For Missions, Sunday. Meetings will be held Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock and in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. W. H. Williamson will be leader in the afternoon service. The Young Peoples Missionary society will conduct the evening service.

PLAN PROGRAM

Young People To Have Charge of Trinity Baptist Service

Miss Norma Parker, Miss Emily Dale Wingett, Cerelda Yazel, Carl Jordan and Dale Gorman, in special parts, with the assistance of all the young people of the senior Baptist Young People's Union of Trinity Baptist church, will be in charge of the church service at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night. The pastor, the Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, will open the service, after which the young people will take charge.

Glen Duffy is president of the organization. Miss Bernita LeMasters will direct the special music prepared for the occasion.

ATTENDANCE INCREASES AT MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

Sixty men were present at the Men's Bible class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school last Sunday, including George I. Freon, of Charleston, W. Va., a business visitor in the city. Attendance and interest are increasing, lessons attractively presented by the teacher, John H. Bartram, having much to do with the increase. Mr. Bartram will present the lesson Sunday morning.

FORMER EMPLOYE OF ERIE RAILROAD DIES

John Pahle, Father of Marion Woman, Succumbs at Toledo

Mrs. Samuel B. McGill, 479 Silver st. has been called to Toledo by the death of her father, John Pahle, which occurred last night at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Pahle was 80 years of age, and death was due to infirmities incident to his advanced years. He was born in Lingenfelt Byrne, Germany, and came to this country when a young man. For orer 30 years he was employed at the Erie Roundhouse, Galion. He moved to Toledo 10 years ago. He is well known in this city having frequently visited here.

His wife preceded him in death 16 months. Surviving are nine children.

He was a member of the Catholic church and also of the Catholic Knights of Ohio.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning from St. Mary's Catholic church, Toledo, and burial will be made there. Mr. and Mrs. McGill and children, Ralph, Leona and Clara Marie, will attend.

PRICES HOLD STEADY ON LOCAL MARKET

Quotations on Foodstuff Show Few Changes During Week

Not following in the footsteps of the stock market by moving back and forth every day, prices of foodstuff in Marion have remained at a fairly even keel for another week.

After five weeks of inactivity the price of butter fell two cents this week for the most important change of the week. Creamery butter was reduced from 54 cents to 52 cents a pound. However, eggs maintained their long period of unchanged prices, remaining at 40 and 45 cents per dozen.

Lemons again started on the upward path after dropping to 35 cents a dozen. A few weeks ago this fruit soared to 60 cents and then tumbled to 35 cents. Thi sweek the price again started upward and closed at 39 cents.

Despite the cold weather which has prevailed throughout the country the prices on new vegetables and fruit remain the same. This same condition existed this week in the meat departments of local stores, no radical changes being made.

Every Sunday the Chicago Tribune will print 3 pictures representing the Capitals of the various States in the United States. Can you name them?

The Chicago Tribune will pay $10,000.00 in Cash Prizes for the best answers.

For the benefit of those who were unable to get last Sunday's Chicago Sunday Tribune, the first six pictures are reprinted above. You can start with these. They will count! Then get the next 3 pictures in Tomorrow's Chicago Sunday Tribune and continue the game.

Every man, woman, boy and girl is invited to participate. It costs nothing.

There is no work to do—no subscriptions to get! Just prove your skill.

Here are the simple rules:

1. Every Sunday, the Chicago Tribune will print 3 pictures depicting the names of the Capital Cities of the various States in the United States. There will be a total of 48 pictures—one for each of the 48 States.

The public is invited to cut out these pictures, fill in the name of the Capital each picture represents and the name of the State. The Chicago Tribune will pay $10,000.00 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named and neatest complete sets of answers in accordance with these rules. See prize list at right.

2. This offer is open to everybody—men, women, boys and girls—except employes of the Tribune and their families. It makes no difference how old you are or where you live. You pay nothing. No work to do—no subscriptions to get. Just prove your skill. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count.

3. Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Capitals," The Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1909, Chicago, Illinois. All pictures must be in by midnight 21 days after the last picture has been published. No entries will be returned.

4. Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department. With your entry send a letter giving your name and address and the name of your favorite State—the one you like for your home, and tell why you like it best. Letters must not exceed 60 words. Elaborate entries are not necessary. Make your entry simple. The prime requirements are accuracy and neatness.

5. School Teachers Note: To interest school teachers in encouraging their pupils to enter this instructive and educational Game, the Chicago Tribune will award 5 prizes of $100.00 each to the teachers in public, parochial or private schools of grammar or high school grades, whose pupils rank highest among the winners. Teachers! This new Game will familiarize your pupils with all the State Capitals. Help them win!

6. You need not purchase the Chicago Tribune to compete. You may copy or trace the pictures from the originals and use the copies you have made. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its Offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7. The judges will be a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

Here is an opportunity to win a big cash prize. Anybody can do it.

Start with the 6 pictures printed above. The next 3 pictures will be published in Tomorrow's Chicago Sunday Tribune.

Remember there are 673 Big Cash Prizes.

Daily Proverb—"A strong memory is usually accompanied by an infirm judgment."

Buenos Aires reports a shower of leeches in Caballeto, one of its suburbs. We never imagined that the bootlegging industry was so widespread.

A German wine made in 1653 is valued at $650,000 a glass. Take it from us, we would have to be mighty thirsty to give up anything like that for a drink of it.

It develops that funds of the Chicago sanitary district to the amount of $3,500,000 have been diverted to the payment of lighting bills. Well, we here in Marion are able to understand minor irregularities along that line.

The Canadian wheat crop last year was 538,571,700 bushels, a gain of 53,906,700 bushels over that of the year before, while her barley crop was 136,301,400. We can understand what she may do with her wheat crop, but what can she possibly do with all that barley?

The daughter of a former Texas senator arrested after she had hit and badly damaged five automobiles, one after another, on charges of driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an automobile collision, will probably set up that she was merely indulging in a few of the vagaries common to the temperamental.

Bucharest reports that a train was stalled by a terrific storm in southern Roumania and buried under twelve feet of snow. Sometimes we are inclined to feel that we do not appreciate as we should the usually superb weather we enjoy here in the heart of the garden spot of the world.

Citing the report that there are 3,000 millionaires on a three-mile stretch of one New York street, the Detroit Free Press surmises that it "must be the famed thoroughfare of song and story, Easy street." Not a chance! No street can be Easy street to a millionaire.

The Toronto Globe charges that liquor is being openly transported across the Detroit river in daylight, small automobiles and sleighs being used to carry it to and from the open water channel, which in many places is not over 100 feet wide, apparently without the slightest interference. It has been intimated that the customs guards up there are not so observing as they might be.

A bill has been introduced in the Nebraska state senate providing that no person without a high school education may become a student barber and that instructors in barbering must hold a degree of master of arts, doctor of philosophy or some equivalent degree. We assume that the idea is to make barber-shop conversation less painful.

Time Alone Will Tell.

We wish we could be as much impressed as we find that some of our readers are by the activity of the police department in suppressing the punch boards; but we are not, chiefly for the reason that we have in mind too many manifestations of similar activity which have lacked the convincing essential of permanency. In each case in the past, it was but a matter of a short time till the boards were back upon show-cases and counters and being run as openly as they have been for the last year or two, seemingly without thought of official interference.

The punch board people have so long enjoyed immunity, that one very naturally assumed that the police department saw no evil in the board, an assumption somewhat strengthened by the fact that no effort was made to conceal them from officers in uniform who, for one reason or another, entered the business places in which they were operated.

Manifestly the assumption was erroneous; either that or the police department has changed its estimate of them, for we have the assurance of the chief of police that they are illegal and constitute a nuisance, and we have the implication that they are debasing the school youth of the city.

We do not pretend to know the why for this change of front. Possibly it may be due to the expressed opinion of the new mayor that laws should either be rescinded or enforced. It is possible that the police department has also come to the same conclusion as the mayor. Its recent dry law enforcement activities go to strengthen this view.

In an event, it will be interesting to note the outcome of the department's latest stand against the punch board and other gambling devices, to know whether it is a mere flash in the pan or the outcome of a determination on the part of the department to put punch boards, slot machines and other forms of open gambling out of business and keep them out. Time alone will tell.

The Death of Oscar Underwood.

Seriously ill since shortly before Christmas, Oscar W. Underwood, former United States senator from Alabama, died at his country estate, Woodlawn, Friday, at the age of sixty-nine years. Born in Kentucky, his boyhood spent in Minnesota, trained for the law at the University of Virginia, his career developed in Alabama, he died in Virginia near the Capital City in which for over thirty years he served the state of his adoption so faithfully and well.

The public career of Oscar Underwood, like his private life, was above reproach. From his entrance into the lower house of congress from the Birmingham district of Alabama in 1895 until his voluntary retirement as senator from the same state in 1927, his record was absolutely clean. Both as a representative and as a senator, as Democratic floor leader in the house and floor leader in the senate, he was recognized as fair, honest and dependable; respected and esteemed alike inside and out of his party. Ten consecutive terms in the house and two in the senate tell of the esteem in which he was held in his own party. His appointment by a Republican president to serve as one of the "Big Four" of the United States at the Washington disarmament conference, an occasion which called for big figures in our national life, speaks volumes for the public estimate of him.

"Alabama casts twenty-four votes for Oscar W. Underwood."

Such was the initial response to the roll call for each of the 103 ballots taken at the Madison Square convention in 1924. The state which had given him political preferment for over three decades was faithful to its adopted son from the beginning to the end of the long-drawn-out contest, which resulted in the nomination of a compromise candidate, a candidate whose defeat was assured with his nomination.

Who can tell what might have been the result had Oscar W. Underwood been the choice of the convention? Popular with the great body of his party, if not with its politicians, he might have been able to have brought its warring elements to his support. Certainly he was the one man of all the South who would have been most acceptable to the voters of the North, were tradition defied and a southerner nominated. He might not have attained victory, but the country would have known that he was in the race, and there would have been a real contest.

But Oscar Underwood is now gone, and such speculation is necessarily idle. It is not given to us to speak of him as one who had been thus honored by his party, but we can speak of him in higher tribute. We can speak of him as an ardent American; as one who placed country above all; as one who, after thirty years, left public life as spotless as he entered it; as an example for emulation by all who may enter public life. The record of such a life should be handed down as a rich heritage from generation to generation.

London reports that the present house of commons wants a tunnel under the English channel. So have past houses of commons for forty years, but the want hasn't built it.

Why should General Charles King, eighty-four, go out of his way to combat the statement of an author that the late Buffalo Bill never fought Indians, when all the general knows about it comes from having seen the colonel kill them, especially so, since nobody pays much attention to what the present-day authors say anyway?

Frances Porter, the show girl who took a trip down to Havana with Millionaire Whitehead on his yacht, wants only $250,000 "for breach of contract, false arrest, character defamation and breach of promise." How moderate!

Mrs. Esther Evans De Forest Wilson, the big game huntress, who entered the law office of her husband in New York and shot and wounded him, has been found guilty of assault in the second degree and can not escape with less than a six-month prison sentence. When will these women learn that the only safe way to escape punishment is to shoot 'em in the back "in self-defense?"

The seventy-five players present when an alleged gambling house in Trenton, New Jersey, was raided by bandits, who secured $25,000, haven't any particular ground for complaint. The "kitty" probably would have gained the big end of their money, in any event.

The Prince of Wales is going to tour the principal coal fields of South Wales that he may know at first hand the real situation there, which will mean more for the lessening of distress than the activities of the British politicians. The prince's Christmas appeal raised $1,500,000 to alleviate the distress of the Welsh mines, and if he utters another appeal, funds will be forthcoming. The explanation is that the Prince of Wales holds a place in the heart of the British people.

The rounding-up by the Italian police authorities of the members of a gang forging United States passports and the seizure of the gang's plant has brought to light the fact that the forged passports have been sold at an average price of $1,000, the returns of the forgers being about $2,000,000 a year. This country must look pretty good to foreigners when they are willing to pay such a price to enter it illegally.

The extension forester of Illinois warns of a lumber famine within twenty years and urges that state to plant a seventh of its area in trees. We are not in position to state about the possible famine, but even should one not occur two decades hence, Illinoisans under the proposed plan might be able to buy a shingle or two without having to tie a gold elephant up in front of the place of purchase as evidence of ability to meet the bill.

Baby Fails To Gain Weight.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Nothing can be much more discouraging to the mother than failure of the baby to gain weight. Worse than this, however, is to see the little one wasting away.

There are several causes for failure to develop. Perhaps the most serious one, because it is a defect in the constitution of the child, is a weakness dating to birth.

We speak of those troubles with which we are born as "congenital" defects. Some of the wasting ailments of babies are due to congenital causes.

Among such is congenital heart disease. This may show itself by enlargement of the heart, or by failure in its normal action.

Many a wasted or undernourished baby is in that condition because of the parent's neglect of the ordinary rules of hygiene. It isn't pleasant to say this, but it is a fact. I know, however, that such neglect is not wilful. It comes from ignorance.

Really there is no excuse these days for ignorance in the upbringing of a child. There are so many agencies, as well as highly trained physicians, that no mother need be without the best medical advice.

If your baby does not gain weight do not fail to find out why. Don't ask the neighbors. Consult a good doctor, or go to a hospital clinic or baby health station. Get the very best advice you can find.

The foundation of health is laid in childhood. What the adult is to be depends to a very considerable extent upon the care given the infant. Never forget this.

In one talk with a well informed person the mother can learn the simple rules of hygiene. When they are applied to the upbringing of the child, all will go well.

Improper feeding is a common cause for failure of development. The breast milk may lack the growing elements. Or if it is fed from a bottle, the food given the baby may not be prepared properly. What may seem like a trifling change in the method of feeding, may start the child on the road to health.

All the time I am telling you about the dangers of infections. Just as localized or general infections may impair the health of adults, so they may undermine the health of the baby.

Tuberculosis, abscess of the ear, pus conditions of the kidneys, chronic bronchitis—any one of these and others may be responsible for failure of growth. Chronic stomach trouble is another actor of importance.

Every baby should be weighed regularly. A record should be kept and the greatest care used to make sure there is satisfactory growth.

At birth the average baby weighs about 7½ pounds. The healthy child is likely to treble in weight during the first year, reaching twenty or twenty-one pounds on the first birthday. Unless there is a gain of at least four ounces a week after the first week, you should look for a reason. The most rapid growth is during the first twelve weeks. The slowest growth usually is during the period between the sixth and ninth months.

Wasting is a bad sign. If you do not observe the proper increase in weight and appearance of the baby, consult somebody who can advise you.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A. S. Q—What is the best remedy for nasal catarrh?

2—What would you advise for very oily hair? Two days after washing it will be as oily as if it had not been shampooed.

A—This requires special attention. A spray is very beneficial. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—The general condition of the health has a great bearing on the condition of the scalp and hair. With better general health you will probably notice quite an improvement throughout your entire system. A tonic is most helpful.

S. K. Q—Is hair dye harmful to the hair?

A—Yes, if used to excess and, of course, it depends on the dye.

C. E. Q—What tonic would you prescribe for a generally run down system? What would be a good blood builder?

2—What will relieve gases in the stomach?

A—First of all build up the general health. Pure cod liver oil is considered a good, general tonic. Building up the general health will increase the blood supply and be of general benefit.

2—Proper diet and regular elimination. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. — Copyright, 1929, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Editorial Opinion.

TWO FOES OF TEMPERANCE.

The cause of temperance in this country has two outstanding bodies of foes, the extreme drys and the extreme wets.

The first of these bodies includes those bigots who insist that the eighteenth amendment is the one sacred part of the constitution, and that every other portion must be sacrificed to it if necessary, including the clause which calls for congressional apportionment, that provision being particularly distasteful to extremists because they fear its enforcement will lessen their strength in the national legislature. Judging from the way some of those zealots talk and act, they consider even homicide a holy act if it is committed for "the cause."

The second of the two bodies menacing temperance includes those rabid wets who covertly and openly advocate defiance and nullification of the eighteenth amendment and the enforcement acts, as a method of breaking down prohibition, who heroize those that break the law, and who fight bitterly every effort to enforce it. Judging from the way some of those most badly obsessed by the booze complex talk, the public official who tries to keep his solemn oath of office and does his best to enforce the prohibition statutes as occasion arises, is a hypocrite, a tyrant and the next thing to a thug; and the state or community which undertakes to be law abiding is not fit to be a part of the United States.

Of these two groups of foes of temperance the second is the more evil. Its members lack even the saving possession of an ideal. They are merely champions of a gross appetite. But the country can not hope to get anywhere with the solution of the prohibition question until the members of both classes are squelched and put in their places and forced to be quiet while sensible, reasonable people handle a matter that demands exceedingly careful and delicate treatment of a sort it never has received.—Detroit Free Press.

THE LAW OF TRAFFIC SIGNALS.

Is a motorist absolved from responsibility for hitting pedestrians crossing against the traffic control light? This was the question which was presented recently to the court of appeals of the District of Columbia. A woman was leading her blind daughter across the street. When they started, the light was in their favor, but before they had reached the opposite side, the lights had changed to amber and then to red. A motorist whose vision was obscured by another car started ahead and struck the mother and daughter.

"It was his duty," the court said, "to see and to know that pedestrians were not in his road. • • • Drivers of automobiles should remember that pedestrians have the right-of-way on all crossings excepting at controlled crossings where they have the right-of-way to enter upon the crossing when the crossing is open; and that right-of-way continues until they have reached the opposite curb."

That was a wise decision. The traffic light is a mechanical contrivance and nothing more. The flashing of its lights does not absolve any one of his moral and legal responsibilities, even in an age in which mechanical progress is rapid and reliance upon mechanisms is habitual. A railroad engineer who ran into a standing train which was plainly visible and justified himself by saying that the signs had turned in his favor would be guilty of gross negligence.—Chicago Tribune.

Paris, of course, never changes. Antiquity is its chiefest charm. The only noticeable change of the year is the new electrical display for the Citroen car on Eiffel tower. There is a rising and falling fountain of light the full length of the structure until the name stands out in vivid relief against the plush of night. The Citroen is the flivver of France and somehow receives first consideration in traffic.

The devotion paid old favorites here is unknown on the American stage. Mistinguett, near sixty, remains a darling of the music halls just as Bernhardt, an ancient crone with a wooden leg, held audiences breathless to the finish. Never beautiful, Mistinguett has become so faded and wrinkled she is almost grotesque. But, like Frankie Bailey, she has stately limbs, legs or whatever they are for the current season. After seeing her this evening I somehow wished legs were still a mystery and that all of us longed again for a windy day around the Flatiron building.

A favorite eating place in Paris has taken in more territory. Formerly it was called "The Chicago Inn," on Avenue de la Bordonnais. This trip I notice it has become "The Chicago-Texas Inn," thereby neatly bidding for panhandle patronage. Its proprietor and chef, Willis Morgan, is a war left-over and a former dining car cook back home. He refuses to go native, serving only such dishes as corn pone, pork chops, corned beef hash, pork and baked beans, brown biscuits, fried chicken and gravy, T-bone steaks and—five minutes for a good cry—chitlins.

The Earth Wobble.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

There is a little oscillation of the earth in its daily rotation which is known to astronomers but unfelt by anybody. It is called "variation of latitude," which sounds better than "earth wobbling." A good many speculations, some a trifle startling to the uninitiated, have been suggested by this irregularity of our whirling globe, but there is nothing really alarming about it. The North and South poles simply appear to wander a little on the earth's surface, swinging around the fixed axis of rotation which has an unchanging direction in space. They never get more than twenty or thirty feet away. Perhaps as clear a definition of the phenomenon as has been made is that of Moulton, who says that the direction in space of the axis of rotation does not change, "but the position of the earth itself changes, so that its axis of rotation continually pierces different points of its surface."

This wobbling was discovered and has been studied by observations on the positions of the stars, which of course, change with reference to the observer's zenith if his latitude changes. But now a new interest has been added to the phenomenon by the discovery just announced by Harlan True Stetson, of the Harvard Astronomical laboratory, that there appears to be a connection between the variation of latitude at any point on the earth and the position of the moon in the sky at the time when the observations on latitude are made.

Observations made at Gaithersburg, Maryland, and at Harvard unite in testifying to the existence of this connection. Increasing altitude of the moon is shown to correspond in a most striking way with rise in the value of the latitude. And when the moon is below the horizon the negative altitude of the moon, accords with decreased value of the latitude.

These remarkable observations are now being undertaken with similar results at the Naval observatory, Washington.

The figures dealt with are minute notwithstanding their great significance. The extreme range of the variation of latitude due to the lunar effect is only .09—less than one tenth—of a second of arc. This corresponds to a distance on the earth's surface of about ten feet.

Two or three possible causes for the effect observed are suggested, without any of them being put forward as a definite hypothesis. One is a tide in the earth's crust produced by the attraction of the moon, but this is not regarded as at all probable.

Another, considered more favorably, is an atmospheric tide. We know that there must be such a tide, and it is noted that the change in atmospheric refraction which the passage of such a tide should produce is at least of the correct sign to fit in with these new observations, although it is very much too great for the observed effect.

The third suggested explanation refers it to the change in the earth's instantaneous axis of rotation already spoken of, and this is doubtfully associated with the "more fanciful hypothesis" of an actual displacement of the earth's crust.

It is even suggested that it is because the moon has been playing these things upon the astronomers without detection that the stellar coordinates of their star catalogues made by widely distributed observatories have hitherto contained so many troublesome discrepancies. The moon is, indeed, as sly as she is charming, and ever since astronomy became scientific she has had little secrets of her own, some of which even yet disturb the slumbers of able mathematicians.—Copyright, 1929, International Feature Service, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Speaking of the battle of Marathon, in which the Greeks overthrew invaders from Asia, Creasy, great historian said: "To it we owe it that Marathon is the battle of Waterloo was fought in 1815. It is a date history teachers are likely to be insistent about. But the battle of Waterloo is not the most significant thing about the year 1815. In that year Sir Humphry Davy invented the enclosed safety lamp for miners. And that invention probably had a greater effect on the building of industrial and material civilization than the battle of Waterloo.

A few hundred years ago peace was only the brief interval between wars. And yet in those brief hours when nations sheathed the sword many of the world's great pictures were painted, books written, and music composed. It would be a great thing for the minds and hearts of young people, if history could be taught in such a way that all the glamor of human behavior was not painted upon the shield of the warrior.

Even today, mention of James G. Blaine, so long the leader of the Republican party, statesman of the seventies, the eighties, and the nineties, brings up the phrase "The Plumed Knight." It is vaguely known by many readers of this newspaper that Ingersoll first used the phrase. Other readers remember it distinctly. What were the circumstances? Ingersoll at the Cincinnati convention which nominated Hayes put the name of Blaine before the delegates. He said, concluding his speech: "Like an armed warrior, like plumed knight James G. Blaine marched down the halls of the American congress and threw his shining lance full and fair against the brazen forehead of every traitor to my country. In the name of the great republic, the only republic that ever existed on the face of the earth; in the name of all her defenders and all her supporters; in the name of all the soldiers living; in the name of her soldiers who died upon the field of battle; in the name of those who perished in the skeleton cloth of famine at Andersonville and Libbey, whose sufferings he so vividly remembers, Illinois nominates that prince of parliamentarians, that leader of leaders—James G. Blaine."

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Tuesday, January 26.

Twenty-two men were entombed in a coal mine near Johnstown, Pennsylvania, as the result of a double explosion.

The attorneys of H. R. Curry, the Erie detective charged with murder, were seeking a change of venue.

George Ober, an old Marion favorite of city hall and Bennett hall days, delighted Marion playgoers in "The Bishop."

Treasurer W. C. Wottring received an anonymous letter with $500 in crisp new bills enclosed as conscience money.

The Marion Steam Shovel company poured off the first heat of its new steel plant.

CORONER BUSY

Six Deaths Investigated by Dr. Osborn Since Jan. 1

Sudden or violent deaths of six persons in the county have been investigated this year by Coroner B. O. Osborn, according to a report filed with Clerk of Courts Harley Koons.

Gun-shot wounds caused the death of two persons since Jan. 1, the report shows. "Probable suicide" and "revolver wound, probably accidental," are the verdicts of the coroner in these cases. An automobile and train crash resulted in another death.

Epileptic convulsion, heart dilation and heart disease caused death in three other cases investigated by the coroner.

SCHOOL BUILDING DAMAGED BY FIRE

Local Department Prevents Destruction of Rural Structure South of City

Fire of undetermined origin for a while threatened to destroy the Smeltzer school building, Prospect pk. and Sawyer rds., this morning.

The fire was discovered in a wooden coal shed adjoining the brick school building. The flames soon ignited the roof of the building proper.

Firemen from Department 2 made the run to the scene of the fire and soon had it under control. Damage amounting to approximately $250 was caused. About six tons of coal in the shed was also destroyed.

LODGED IN JAIL

Wyandot County Man Fined $800 and Costs by Judge

UPPER SANDUSKY, Jan. 26—Burlin Cubb was fined $800 and costs and lodged in the Wyandot county jail following his trial in Judge Earl B. Carter's court this morning on charges of possessing and giving away intoxicating liquor. Cubb's trial was continued from last Saturday when he pleaded to possession. He was represented by Attorney Niles, of Tiffin. The prosecution was conducted by Attorney David Crenger.

supreme court; Cramer became the leading cotton mill owner and operator in the south.

Story Is Recalled

In this connection, an interesting story is told of how they almost became colleagues in the Coolidge administration. The authenticity of the story is well established.

The story goes that after Edwin Denby had resigned as secretary of the navy, because of the oil scandals, President Coolidge had reason to anticipate the similar resignation of Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general. It was his intention to bring Wilbur into his administration as attorney general, and Cramer as secretary of the navy. Both were summoned to Washington. The hitch arose when Daugherty did not resign, and at that time Mr. Coolidge did not choose to ask for his resignation.

President Coolidge, the story goes, called both men to his office, explained the situation to them and observed that whereas he had expected to have two posts, he had only one, the navy.

Want Wilbur To Retire

"In that case, Mr. President," Cramer is reported to have said, "there is only one candidate, my friend, Judge Wilbur."

Wilbur received the appointment, and Cramer returned to North Carolina to continue his manufacturing activities but not until he had spent a month with his old-time friend, and hunk-mate, helping him to get his departmental administration organized and under way.

Now the sponsors of Cramer for a post in the Hoover cabinet are contending that it is up to Secretary Wilbur to return the act of self abnegation, retire voluntarily, and await the next vacancy on the bench of the supreme court of the United States.

That is only one of the many perplexing problems that Mr. Hoover is trying to thresh out between fishing trips through the Florida Keys.

may be compelled to oppose a member of his own firm in the election, as rumor has it that John Wiedemann may be the Democratic choice for this office.

No word is forthcoming from the camp of the present city treasurer, R. C. Snare, as to whether or not he will be out for reelection. The Democrats report that they may place Ralph E. Grubaugh, assistant cashier at the Marion Savings bank, in the field. Grubaugh suffered defeat in the last election at the hands of Snare.

Landes Seeks Reelection

J. L. Landes, present incumbent of the city auditor's office will be in the race for reelection on the Republican ticket. Landes may not have any opposition at the primary, according to forecasts of Republican leaders.

According to reports Democratic strategy will bring a woman candidate into the field in hope of defeating Landes at the November election.

It is entirely too early to say anything about the race for members of council. Three of the present councilmen will be running for their second terms while the others will either drop out of public affairs or run for another term.

their 18-months old baby girl. Dr. Pond will be joined in Algeria by a French colleague, A. J. Debruge, who has had 34 years' experience in archaeological work in northern Africa.

THIS is Dr. Pond's third expedition into Africa and his fourth for the Logan museum at Beloit, Wis. He is assistant curator of Logan museum. The present expedition is financed by Frank G. Logan, vice president of the Chicago Art Institute.

"In other expeditions we excavated four or five tremendous deposits and made a number of interesting discoveries," said Dr. Pond. "We found that the people who lived in Africa many thousands of years ago were a hardy race.

"They lived almost exclusively on snails. Their weapons were made of flint and bone. There was no domestication of animals. The prehistoric men did not go in for agriculture.

"Apparently these ancient people were nomads entirely. They supplemented their snail diet occasionally with large animals, which they hogged with their crude weapons. We found the skull of an ox which measured 52 inches between the tips. They probably hunted in groups."

SHERIFF READY TO ENFORCE NEW RULE

Road Deputy To Patrol County Seeking Load and Speed Limit Violators

Deduction of load and speed limits on county highways during periods of excessing moisture and thawing is to be rigidly enforced, it was stated today in the office of Sheriff John J. Francis.

A 50 per cent reducton of load and speed limits was made effective last Thursday by a resolution of the board of county commissioners. Fred Williams, road deputy in the sheriff's office, will patrol the county roads to enforce the order of the commissioners. Notices of the reduction have been posted on all county roads.

CHANGE DATES

Richwood Fair To Be Held Sept. 17, 18, 19 and 20

RICHWOOD, Jan. 26—At the meeting of the Ohio Fair Manager's association held at Columbus last week, dates were taken for changes from their dates of last year. Several fairs in north western Ohio changed dates and an entire Regional was able to replace dates which have been vacated by fairs which have gone out of business. Thus the Richwood fair is the only fair in the county of Union which has the honor of holding the same dates as last year. The dates for the coming fair are Richwood fair, Sept. 17, 18, 19 and 20. Thomas Carl Alspaugh and Harry C. Gill, officials of the fair association, announced the dates.

Bucyrus Grade Students Present Benefit Program

BUCYRUS, Jan. 26—The theme of forest conservation predominated the operetta, "The Forest Court," presented to a good sized audience by 75 children of the first six grades of Central school at the high school auditorium Friday in a matinee and evening performance under the direction of Mrs. H. K. Pirnstill, assisted by grade teachers, Miss Olive Gillies, principal, Miss Florence Jacobs, Miss Mary Catherine Dunbar, Miss Bertha Walters and Miss Esther Weiber.

The story of the operetta tells about Tommy, whose mischievousness prompts him to muddy the spring, switch elf flower tops and injure baby trees. One day he falls asleep and is tried in the Forest court by Judge Owl. He is about to be sentenced for his wrong-doing when Rabbit and Tortoise bring word of a past good deed, when Tommy had saved a butterfly, the messenger of the fairy queen, from the spider's web. He is pardoned and the operetta ends in a fairy revel.

Cast of Characters

Following is the cast: Edgar Kennedy, Tommy; Harold Cook, Judge Owl; William Jacobs, Julia Fledgeling; Bobby Loveland, children; Wayne Markley, Myron Wentz, elves; Henrietta Monnette, spirit of the stream; Margaret Uebelhoer, Helen Meek, Dorothy Mae Rush and Dorothy Healy, rippling waters; James Farabay, first leaf; James Smith, singing leaf; Evelyn Kiser, blue bell; Maxine Seckel, harebell; Winifred Assebheimer, buttercup; Eileen Hinman, poppy; Grace Charleston, daisy; Harry Mead, first owl; Bobby Hess, rabbit; Lilly Smith, Tortoise; Dannabelle Rathburn, sunflower; Ruth Meek, silver wings; Mary Ruth, fairy queen.

The operetta, which was the initial entertainment venture of the central grades, was presented as a benefit to secure money for the piano fund, a new instrument having been purchased recently.

Scenery was planned by the Intermediate grades and posters were made by the art department.

AMENDED PETITION FILED BY TRUSTEE

Action Taken in Litigation Over Harding Personal Property

An amended petition in the suit brought in common pleas court by Harry J. Merchant against the Harding Memorial association and others, was filed this morning. The suit was brought by Merchant as trustee for Jean DeWolfe and George Neely DeWolfe, to recover personal property of the late President Warren G. Harding and his wife, Florence Kling Harding, which is now held by the memorial association. John H. Bartram is attorney for the plaintiff.

Dismissal Asked

The village of Prospect has filed answer in common pleas court to the suit brought by James F. Wottring in which the plaintiff seeks to have a tract of land withdrawn from the corporation limits.

The answer asks the dismissal of the petition. George T. Geran is attorney for the village.

QUARTERS LEASED BY COUNTY G. O. P.

Permanent Rooms To Be Occupied on East Center st.

Marion county Republican organizations are to have permanent headquarters.

New offices of local Republican groups will be located on the second floor of the Marion Building, Savings & Loan Co. building on East Center st. A lease for the quarters has been signed by attorney Carter Patton, president of the Marion County Republican club. It is expected, however, that other party organizations will have access to the rooms.

The new Republican headquarters served as Democratic headquarters here during the political campaign last November.

According to plans announced today the headquarters will be available to various non-political groups for meetings.

MERCURY REGISTERS 35-DEGREE DECLINE

Drops to 11 Above Zero in Cold Wave; Rise Predicted for Sunday

A drop of 35 degrees in temperature was registered yesterday as the cold wave which has been raging in the west hit Marion with abated force. The lowest temperature recorded yesterday was 11 degrees. However, this was not as cold as it had been anticipated, according to advance reports.

The report says that Sunday Marion may expect a rise in temperature with snow or rain.

The warmest recorded yesterday was 46 degrees, while the coldest was 11. One year ago yesterday the temperature rose to 27 degrees and then dropped back to 14 during the night.

Selections by Knox Dunlop To Feature Monday Night Lecture-Recital Program

Vocalist Will Present Group of Seven Songs in Entertainment at Hotel Harding Ballroom; Other Local Talent Included in List of Entertainers

Knox Dunlop will appear with the Marion Lecture-Recital club Monday night in the ballroom of Hotel Harding, in a group of seven songs. Mr. Dunlop is a graduate of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music, New York, where he was a pupil of Bert Robert Lyon, director of the vocal department.

He was a scholarship pupil of Herbert Witherspoon, president of the Chicago Musical college, and at one time was soloist with Pat Conway's Band. For one season he was on tour with the Redpath Lyceum Bureau as bass in the Blue Danube Light Opera company and at another time was with the same company in the Chimes of Brittany company. Recently he opened a studio in this city, at 765 East Church st.

Program in Groups

The program, which is a particularly interesting arrangement, will be in groups. The first will be four songs by a trio composed of Mrs. Knox Dunlop, Mrs. C. L. Rutherford and Mrs. Earl N. Hale, singing "Lift Thine Eyes to the Mountains," Mendelssohn, "When the Roses Bloom," Reichardt, "Sleep, Little Treasure," a Lithuanian folk song arranged by Clough-Leighter and "O Lady Leave Thy Silken Thread," Strickland.

The next group will be a piano duo, "The Barcarolle," Schytte, by Mrs. Clyde Coulter and Mrs. Harry T. Williams. C. L. Jaynes will accompany Mr. Dunlop in his first group of three numbers, "Invocazione di Orfeo," Peri, from the music-drama, "Euridice," "Caro mio ben," Giordani, and a recitation "Thus Saith the Lord," with an aria, "But Who May Abide," Handel, from "The Messiah."

Violin Selections

A violin group of "Romance," Wieniawski, and "Spanish Dance," Rehseld, will be presented by Mrs.

KNOX DUNLOP

K. W. Povenmire, accompanied at the piano by Miss Avonnelle Schweinfurth.

Mrs. H. K. Mouser will entertain with a piano number, "Venezia-E-Napoli No. 3," Franz Liszt.

Mr. Dunlop's next group will include "By the Sea," Schubert, "The Two Grenadiers," Schumann, "Request," Franz and "A Ballynure Ballad," old Irish air.

The program will close with three songs by the vocal trio, "My Sun," di Capua, "Quandury," Bliss and "Dance-Song," from "William Tell," Rossini.

How Long Would You Look For A Nickel?

If you lost a nickel somewhere, you'd hardly spend hours searching for it. You'd balance the value of the nickel against the value of your time.

It's the same with laundry service—the value of the time it saves you is its greatest benefit.

A day of leisure every week—a year saved in every seven—

Isn't that worth a good many nickels?

The Vanguard

A Story of Big Business and the Wiles of Women

BY ARNOLD BENNETT

"Nice remark, sir. Some folks don't wish before they're much older than we did save a doctor aboard. As I said, we don't know how bad his lordship is. You and this young lady say you saw him fall, but I never noticed his lordship was one for falling about all over the decks, for falling at sea, which there isn't. If I am asked my opinion by the police or a British consul I should say he'd had an uppercut on the jaw before he fell. I don't mind telling you as I've seen a man drop in the ring from an uppercut and never speak again, though he did open an eye once. And it was at San Francisco that was, and I knew his widow."

"Very sad! Very sad!" murmured Mr. Sutherland. "I've never seen a prize fight, but I've often bored."

"And I'm not surprised to hear it," observed the captain, his voice charged with sinister significance.

"You made a mistake there, Sepp," Harriet inwardly reflected.

"I said too much," thought Mr. Sutherland, and remarked aloud: "Then if his lordship isn't to be moved, I venture the opinion that this cabin ought to be cleared." He glanced at Harriet for approval of the moral courage which he was exercising at her behest.

She nodded to him. He was content.

"You're right," said Captain Slapper. "And I'll thank you to go first. And you too, miss," he added, to Harriet Perkins, "I don't know who you are, either of you. His lordship never said anything to me about you."

"No. Nor to me," said Mrs. Bumpton severely. "At least, not till I asked him—about Mr. Sutherland, if that's the gentleman's name. And he didn't say much then."

"I'll thank you," the captain proceeded, "to go at once to the purser's office, you and your lady friend, and tell him who you are and everything, so he can enter you in the ship's papers. And I don't want any hanky-panky. The purser will have to see your passports."

"Certainly," said Septimius.

"My passport's at Naples in the Hotel Splendide," said Harriet.

"Well," said the captain; "well, miss, you can tell that tale to the next British consul we see. I shall ask him to come on board specially. No one's going ashore off this ship till I know where I am. And if I have to call in the Italian police, I shall call 'em in and that's all there is to it. What! This young lady has a long interview with his lordship and this Mr. Sutherland is supposed to be asleep in his cabin. And the next thing as happens is we find his lordship knocked senseless, and blood all over the place; and then I'm told he slipped and fell down!" Captain Slapser grunted—the grunt of a man who has no doubt at all of his capacity to put two and two together.

The Baron's Delirium

At this juncture Lord Furber opened both eyes, as if to suggest to the company that his presence in the cabin was being rather unduly ignored. The gesture drew general attention and caused excitement. Captain Slapser and Mrs. Bumption seemed at once to feel a certain loss of prestige at the awakening of supreme authority. Mr. Bumption stood by to give aid to the sufferer, and was made happy by a somewhat plaintive smile from his partner and tyrant. Harriet Perkins was uplifted. Mr. Sutherland saw hopes, and glanced warningly at the captain.

"Furber, my old friend," Mr. Sutherland murmured encouragingly to the sufferer, though he had never been more than an acquaintance of the powerful millionaire.

The words frightened Captain Slapser. They produced, however, no effect whatever on the baron. The baron continued to stare at the ceiling seemingly quite oblivious of all other phenomena.

"Furber, my friend"

No response.

"Can I get you anything, my lord?" asked the portly Bumption, in a tone affectionate and devoted.

A pause, in which hearts almost ceased to beat in intense expectancy. The vibration of the propellers filled the cabin.

"My feyther's dead—died yesterday," said Lord Furber weakly, in a very marked midland accent. But there was no other sign of delirium. The eyes closed again.

After a long time Mrs. Bumption, controlling a sob, muttered:

"They lose their memory—and they never get it back no more. There's funny things happen in the brain. That I do know * * * His lordship's father's been dead five and twenty years and more * * * Second childhood."

"You heard me," Captain Slapser addressed Septimius shortly.

Septimius turned submissively toward the door of the cabin. In the unsearchable recesses of his soul he was alarmed for himself. And also the strangeness of existence terribly weighed him down. In an hour his past life, so sedate and regular, had receded so far from him that it seemed to be the life of another man. Even the scene in the engine-room was slipping beneath the horizon of experience.

A sudden blow! One dart of his fist! And the whole world had been changed. An hour ago a policeman was a benevolent official who held up a traffic-stopping hand in order to escort perambulators and nursemaids from pavement to pavement. An hour ago a prison was an enclosed place which ought to be inspected and reformed of its abuses. But what now was a policeman and what a prison? In vain he protested to himself that his apprehensions were ridiculously devoid of foundation. The most revolting things were constantly happening in courts of justice. Extradition! Imagine the humiliation of being the subject of extradition. Imagine his name streaming across the front page of Lord Furber's newspapers! Imagine himself being visited in a cell by his wife and daughters! Where would he look when they came? How could he carry it off?

He had given the blow, and he would be obliged to admit that he had given the blow. And why had he given it? Why had he, formerly a great master of self control, yielded so swiftly to the madness of an impulse? The answer was plain: the magical effect upon him of the personality of Miss Harriet Perkins! Toils of a woman! The awful potentialities of fundamental instinct made him dizzy. And perhaps the worst was that he was not in those acutely anxious moments cutting a good figure in the sight of the woman. True, it was solely for the sake of the woman that he had so rashly tempted fate; but that could make no difference. At best the woman could only pity him; she could not respect him. And to be pitied, especially by her, was loathsome to his sensitive pride. Perhaps it was a desire to force her to admire him that led to his final remark to the Captain:

"Would you mind telling me what your sailing orders are?" he asked, in a voice superbly casual.

"My sailing orders are my affair," replied the Captain.

Harriet's Admiration

Mr. Sutherland, picking up a cap, went out, with a parting glance at Harriet to follow him.

The captain said:

"You'll stop here for a bit, Miss, if it's all the same to you." Evidently the Captain in his astuteness was determined that those two should not plot together on the way to the purser's office. "Mr. Bumption, show this gentleman where Mr. Antinope's room is."

Harriet Perkins, for her part, was not pitying Septimius Sutherland, and his effort to force her admiration was absurdly unnecessary.

She was admiring him with all her heart—for his modesty, sangfroid, self-control, and his scrupulous respect for the authority of Captain Slapser. With the directness and the ruthless realism characteristic of a woman, and especially of a young woman, she regarded the captain as a vain, preposterous, and bloated jack-in-office whom Septimius, had he chosen, might have morally smashed to pieces with about 20 quiet words. And she remembered every instant with pride that the whole trouble had arisen through Mr. Sutherland's mad passion for herself. She beatifically saw Harriet Perkins as the inspirer of grave men to romantic and terrible deeds. Yet she refused to credit that Mr. Sutherland's deed was terrible or might have disastrous consequences. But, if it was to have disastrous consequences, she was inclined to think that she would not care.

Her pity descended upon Lord Furber. This mighty legend of a man, whose marvelous success in life he had himself indirectly admitted to her to be after all nothing but a gigantic failure, seemed now to be almost intolerably pathetic. So much so, that if she had continued to look at him as he lay on the bed she might well have shed tears! He was like a child with a toy, and his toy was the earth, and he was tired of his toy and wanted a fresh one and couldn't find a fresh one. He was also strangely like herself. Yet she felt as though she were his mother, and she had impluses both to chastise him and to pet him.

She gazed challengingly at the captain, and walked out of the cabin to the deck. The captain would have given much to prevent this disobedience to his commands, but at the moment could think of no method of doing so. He limited the expression of his feelings to a grunt. Hearing the grunt behind her, Harriet turned back into the cabin and, smiling very agreeably, said to the captain:

"Captain!"

"Miss?"

"You may grunt."

The permission to the captain being gracefully accorded, he finally quitted the cabin.

The night was persistently exquisite in its balmy and moonlit freshness. The zephyr, now on the quarter, gently flirted with Harriet's cheek. The great yacht urged its solitary way through the calm water, masterless, without a purpose, at the mercy of a prepostorous jack-in-office who was losing his head because there was no supreme authority to call him Joe and rule him. Harriet felt sorry even for the yacht. And sorriest of all, most disquieted, for herself.

"I've simply nothing to wear tomorrow morning!" she exclaimed tragically in her soul.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was Saturday and the wind had went down when I got the window open to let Jubilee down, but it was still plenty cold. He didn't want to be let down. But that is nothing. I didn't want to carry out ashes, or milk the dummed brutes, but Jubilee is a dog and I am a boy, so what we don't want to do don't cut any ice.

If I was a germ I would be glad to walk into someone's pores, only I don't think I would like raw liver or anything like that. I would carry a bunch of kindlings with me and find a dry place on whoever's lights it was and make a fire and cook whatever I et. I bet it is fun being a germ and meeting people whose pores are like a lot of doors to it so that it can walk in anywhere. It must be like a cave. It can go in one pore and out of another, and can climb all around inside till it gets tired or gets swatted with castor oil or something, and then it can go and find someone else to play with.

The bunch didn't come till after I had got my milking all done, and then they came crowding into the kitchen and got around the kitchen stove whilst my mother and the rest of us fed our faces. Younise and Maggie said they had stopped by Feeble's house and had looked through the window at her and she had made a snoot at them. So I bet she has got rid of her germ whatever kind it was and is only waiting for the place to get well where it bit her. We all got our skates and slays and went down to the pond and made a fire on the damn and we would slide and then come and get warm and then we would skate and that would keep us warm itself. Then we all went to Feeble's house and went in and her mother said we were a fine looking bunch. Feeble's mother is just like Feeble so she is always teasing people. She said our noses all looked like purple buttons, and if she knowed which one of us it was that tripped her little girl and left her lying on her stummick in the ice water she would take him outdoors and hold him there till he froze to death. So then we knew Feeble's hadn't squealed and we axed if we might go in and see her, and when she said we might we went in and Feeble was sitting by the base burner wearing pajamas and eating some oyster stew, and she said we are a fine bunch. She said if I had dropped a book or anything I would of picked it up and wiped it off, but no one offered to wipe her off, and then they all hooraweil me till I went home. I don't care. There isn't anything a fella can say sometimes. I am glad the nut is getting well.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affection

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Tells Neat Story

DICKY'S command to "look at the loot" in the jeweler's boxes which Junior had distributed to the women of our household was eagerly obeyed by Mother Graham, Katherine and Mary. Lillian and I opened ours more slowly for she, I was sure, shared my intuition concerning the contents of the boxes.

Mother Graham had untied the cord around her box before Dicky's mandate, so her gift was the first uncovered. Two beautiful filigree brooches, one set with an amethyst, the other with a topaz, so delighted her ornament-loving soul that she gave but scant attention for a minute or two to the contents of the other boxes.

"How beautiful, Richard!" she quavered. "But they must be very expensive."

"Not too costly for you, Mother dear, if they were real, instead of being exceedingly clever imitations," Dicky returned with the tender courtesy which generally marks his attitude toward his mother.

Mary's squeal of delight interrupted him.

"Oh! oh! Uncle Dicky, you darling!" she exclaimed, rushing at him and hugging him rapturously. In her hands were a choker necklace and earrings of cleverly simulated pink pearls and tiny diamonds.

"What is Marion's?" she asked with childish inquisitiveness, veering from Dicky to Lillian who held up a set like Mary's, but of aqua-marines.

"Oh! how they'll bring out the color of her eyes!" Mary commented ecstatically. "But let's see the rest. Haven't you any curiosity, Auntie Madge?"

Thus challenged, there was nothing for me to do but to open my own box as I saw Lillian doing. Before me lay a long necklace and earrings, exactly like those I had seen decking Edith Fairfax, except that the stones of mine were the exquisite green of jade. A swift glance at the others told me that Katherine's gift was an exact replica of Edith's, with its blue stones like sapphires, while Lillian's held the deep, glowing red of rubies.

From somewhere I plucked out the courage to murmur, "How perfectly exquisite, Dicky!" adding to the general chorus of feminine ejaculations which filled the room. But it took all my strength of will to keep from hurling the beautiful baubles straight into Dicky's face, for I was sure that he had arranged this wholesale distribution of gifts in the excited minutes following my encounter with Edith, for the sole purpose of quieting any jealous qualms on my part.

Grateful indeed was I for the lazy, drawling, impudent comment which Harry Underwood contributed when Lillian held her gift out to him for inspection.

"There are only two explanations of this," he said. "Either this room is a wholesale junk shop, or a fence for the 'international jewelry robbers' so beloved by our tabloids. Come clear, old carrot! Are you the 'master mind,' the 'Raffles' and all the rest of it, or what?"

"What," Dicky retorted promptly with a laugh, "But I resent your term of 'wholesale junk,' although it's all anybody could expect from a low-brow like you, with no appreciation of art in your soul."

"Gramercy for the greens," his friend returned, "and get on with the explanation. Can't you see your lady friends holding their respective breaths?"

Dicky's gaze swept us with apparent carelessness, but as his eyes met mine quarely for the first time since our inopportune meeting in his office, I saw not only anxiety for my belief of his explanation, but also the sort of impish triumph with which a small boy invests his highly colored and deceiving account of some exploit.

"It's very simple," he said: "The man who is designing these things has a most romantic and genuine story, which Ede dug out when she copied an advertisement from the firm which employs him. She verified the story and we're going to run a nice little spread in our next number with illustrations of some of the things. The people were so pleased—that they wanted to give me the ornaments we photographed.

"Of course I wouldn't accept that, but I did purchase them at cost, I gave Ede her pick because she got the ad and wrote the story, and then I brought the rest home. I think they're pretty nifty, myself, don't you, Madge?"

A German city has placed in service a single deck street car 75 feet long that can seat 117 passengers.

Sore Throat? Don't Gargle

Quicker and Better Relief with Famous Prescription

Don't suffer from the pain and soreness of sore throat—gargles and salves are too slow—they relieve only temporarily. But Thoxine, a famous physician's prescription, is guaranteed to give relief almost instantly.

Thoxine has a double action—relieves the soreness and goes direct to the internal cause. No chloroform, iron or other harmful drugs—safe and pleasant for the whole family. Also wonderfully effective for relieving coughs. Quick relief guaranteed or your money back. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by Bradley's and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

Announcing

Substantial Reductions

in the prices of the

DODGE BROTHERS SENIOR

WHEN THE NEW Dodge Brothers Six was announced, at the beginning of the new year, at prices so low as to overshadow any previous Dodge Brothers accomplishment, its universal public acceptance marked a new peak of popularity even for Dodge Brothers cars.

Public recognition was quickly translated into an unprecedented sales volume with an attendant increase in manufacturing efficiency and economy which now favorably affects its companion car—the Dodge Brothers Senior—and permits substantial reductions in the prices of all Dodge Brothers Senior models.

The new lower prices at which the Dodge Brothers Senior henceforth will be sold are directly traceable to the established Chrysler policy of giving the public immediate benefit of every economy due to more efficient manufacturing methods, lower overhead costs and savings effected by the great unified purchasing power of Chrysler Motors.

Not only are these savings now passed on to the public in the form of much lower prices of all Dodge Brothers Senior models, but the cars themselves have been made still better.

Examine the Dodge Brothers Senior in your most critical mood. Scrutinize each small detail. Be most exacting in your inspection. For once you have subjected the Chrysler-built Dodge Brothers Senior to your most diligent and careful inspection you are certain to realize that never before has a car so large, so handsome and so has been available at so low a price.

Authorities On Law To Give Talks Over Radio

NEW WEEKLY PROGRAM SERIES

Arrangements have been completed with the American Bar association by the National Broadcasting Co for a series of weekly programs on legal topics. The broadcast was arranged to satisfy the almost universal demand for legal information.

A number of the nation's foremost attorneys, including the solicitor general of the United States, the president and secretary of the Bar association and an associate justice of the United States supreme court are among those to be heard.

The talks will be broadcast through the NBC system of radio stations Jan. 29, Feb. 5, Feb. 12 and Feb. 19 at 7:30 o'clock. Each will last a half hour and the speakers will deal in simple language with the everyday legal problems confronting the average American citizen.

NEW STATION ADDED FOR HOOVER PARTY

In order that radio programs of national interest may be available to President-elect Herbert Hoover and his party now sojourning in Florida, the National Broadcasting Co. has temporarily added station WIOD, Miami Beach, to its system.

The same policy was adopted last summer by the NBC when station WEBC at Superior, Wis., was added so that President Coolidge might have good reception of programs during his summer vacation.

BEST RADIO FEATURES FOR NEXT MONDAY

Radio listeners desiring the best in broadcasting programs will not go amiss with the following scheduled for Monday night: 8:30—Bureau of budget meeting and President Coolidge over WEAF network; 8.00—Roxy and Gang over the WJZ network and the Music Room hour over Columbia, 8.30—A. and P. Gypsies over WEAF network; 9.00—Fireside—"Echoes of 1928"—at station WIP; 9:30—Real Folks over WJZ network, Motors Party through WEAF network and Vitaphone hour through Columbia; 10:00—Opera "Patience" through Columbia; 10.30—Empire Builders through WEAF network and Chicago Madrigal club through WLS.

CANARY SOLOIST AT STATION WGY DIES

Pete Van Curler, WGY's canary soloist, will never be heard on the air again. The fluffy song-bird died last week. Pete had a big fan following because of his impromptu recitals broadcast during the afternoon programs at WGY, with the Van Curler dance orchestra as accompaniment.

Coolidge and Lord On Air Monday

The voices of President Coolidge and Brig. Gen. H. M. Lord, director of the budget, will be heard over a coast-to-coast network of radio stations of the WEAF and WJZ network of the NBC system from 6:30 until 8 o'clock Monday night.

The occasion of the broadcast is the semi annual business meeting of the government. The financial status of the United States and governmental economic problems will be discussed by the president and director of the budget. The meeting will be held in Memorial Continental hall at Washington, D. C. Music by the United States Army band will open and close the broadcast, President Coolidge is the first speaker.

EXPENSES FOR 1928 OUTLINED IN REPORT

Total Population During Year in County Institution Registers 92

FARM EARNS $2,460

50 Men and Four Women in Home Now; 41 Are Natives of Ohio

It cost Marion county $473.96 to keep each one of the residents in the county home during 1928, according to a report just completed by M D Porter, superintendent. The present population of the home is 50 men and four women.

Total expenditures for the home in 1928 amounted to $22,698.17. This includes $8,047.51 for wages of superintendent, matron and employees. The average cost for the support of each resident as listed in the superintendent's report does not take into consideration receipts from the sale of produce raised on the farm. Receipts amounting to $2,460.80 would reduce slightly the average cost for each inmate.

Property Values

The report estimates the value of the county home farm land at $83,000, buildings at $60,000, furniture at $2,700, farm machinery at $3,000 and livestock at $6,000.

The total population during the year was 82 men and 10 women. At the beginning of the year the home had a population of 46 men and six women. Thirty-six men and four women were admitted during the year. Four men and three women died at the home during the year, the report shows. Twenty-two men and two women were discharged and six men and one woman were removed to other county or state institutions.

Ages of Residents

Forty residents of the home are over 60 years of age. Fourteen are between 16 and 60. Thirty-two are disabled old age, 11 are disabled by disease or are crippled, and one is blind.

Of the present residents 11 were born in Ohio, 10 in other states and three in foreign countries.

Dudley Field Malone to Seek Divorce For Californian in Paris

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Baldwin M. Baldwin, California millionaire, and Suzanne Lenglen, former tennis champion who sailed for Europe early today on the liner Paris, plan to be married as soon as Baldwin can obtain a divorce from his present wife.

This sensational announcement was made by Dudley Field Malone, noted lawyer who accompanied the party. Baldwin, the temperamental Suzanne and her mother stood by in silent assent while Malone told reporters he would concentrate his efforts in Paris on securing a divorce for the millionaire. As soon as the divorce is obtained, Malone declared, the couple will be married.

WOOD, HOLT BELIEVE ALIBIS WILL HOLD

Seek Reduction of Their $50,000 Bonds; Says Charges Characteristic

CENTERVILLE, Mich., Jan. 26—Ralph A. Wood and Cecil Holt openly expressing confidence that their alibis will disprove the charges that they held up the Sturgis National bank under which they are being held in the St. Joseph county jail here, today planned a demand for a reduction of their $50,000 bonds.

"My client, Wood, will be able to raise his bond even though a reduction is not made, but he feels Holt will be forced to remain in jail indefinitely if the bond is not lowered," Henry H. Platt, Wood's attorney, said as he left the courtroom of Justice Charles L. Haner, who set the bonds when the men made no plea to the robbery armed, charge.

Wood characterizes the charges against Holt and himself as "ridiculous," and has authorized Platt to act in a legal capacity for Holt as well as for himself. "It's the least I can do," he said grimly, "when you think of the ridiculous mess my wife has led Holt into."

The wife, Grace M. Wood, who "tipped" state police to her suspicions that her husband participated in the $7,000 bank holdup, is ill in a Detroit hotel.

NEW YORK READY TO WELCOME CREW

Captain Fried To Be Met at Quarantine by Boats

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—The heroic captain and crew of the United States liner America this afternoon will receive the first installment of New York City's welcome in recognition of their feat in saving 32 men aboard the sinking Italian freighter Florida.

As the liner neared Ambrose lightship this morning, city officials prepared to board the welcoming boat Macom, which was to meet the Americas at quarantine this afternoon. Airplanes will drone a greeting from the sky, and every citizen fortunate enough to own a motor boat prepared to join the procession of harbor craft whose sirens will shriek a welcome to the returning heroes. Another feature of the welcome will be a water display by the city's fireboats at the Battery.

A wireless from Capt. George Fried, the gallant master of the America, stated that the ship would not reach quarantine before 1 o'clock this afternoon and perhaps later than that. Due to the uncertainty as to the time of the America's arrival, it was decided to pay homage to the heroic mariners on the installment plan. The inevitable parade up Broadway through a barrage of ticker tape, the official reception by Mayor Walker, and the presentation of scrolls to the crew, were postponed until noon Monday because the downtown business district will be practically deserted this afternoon.

NAME CHANGED

Community Club To Be Known As Parent-Teachers' Association

A vote to change the name of the Forest Lawn Community club to the Parent-Teachers association was taken at a meeting of the club last night at the school. It was also planned to draw up new by-laws in accordance with the state association.

As a result of the recent membership drive, 200 paid subscriptions were turned in. Miss Emma Duerr's room was awarded a picture for having the largest number of subscribers. Silver pencils were presented to Miss Thelma Sinch and Marion Weaver each having secured 12 members.

The Rev. John A. Carriker, lead devotions, and George A. Bowman, the new superintendent of schools, gave a talk. Miss Elizabeth Crissinger entertained with a number of songs.

Members of the club decided to pay 50c dues to the Marion City Council P. T. A., and to take part in the Founders' Day program to be given in February at the Central Junior high school. Mrs. Leo Baisley Charles Aiken, and Ralph Grubaugh were appointed as a committee to purchase a radio for the club. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

PLAN CAMPAIGN

Members of Lime City Council Arrange Drive to Boost Enrollment

One candidate was initiated and plans made for the past councilors meeting to be held here March 8, at a meeting of the Lime City Council, No. 293, Jr. O. U. A. M. last night at its hall, West Center st.

A membership drive was also discussed, the campaign to run through the next five months. Walter Carder was appointed chairman of the membership campaign, and William Burley was elected chairman of the past councilors' meeting. The next regular meeting of the council will be Feb. 1.

BANKING DROPS

School Deposits Here Show Decrease During Week

Banking in the city schools decreased during the last week, showing an average of only 64 per cent of the pupils banking.

Greenwood school was in the lead again this week with a 100 per cent average. The deposit totaled $115.62. Harding high school banked $104.24. Vernon Heights Junior high school had Central Junior high school with a per cent deposit of 87.4, against per cent at Central. The Vernon Heights grade school was second in the city with 92.3 per cent of the students banking.

Total deposits for the week were $775.88, making a grand total deposit of $34,525.49 now in the school bank fund.

Local District Shares in Awards Distributed by Hocking Valley Railway

Supevisor Sparks and Aides Given Recognition for Efficiency in Track Improvement and Maintenance; Awards Made Following Annual Inspection

When awards were made in the northern Ohio district of the Hocking Valley railroad for track improvement and maintenance work several men on the Marion district were benefited.

Supervisor F. A. Sparks, Marion district No. 2 won third prize of $50 in the supervisor awards. In Spark's district, Joseph W. Cronklin, of Prospect, Section No. 17, won the first prize of $50. Rufus Goreadlo, Section No. 23-A took the second prize of $25 and the third award of $10 went to Herbert Clark, section No. 18, Prospect.

The first award in the supervisor's division went to F. A. Matthews, of district No. 3, Columbus. This award was $100. The second place prize of $75 went to F. A. Dirnberg, district No. 1-A, Walbridge.

The inspection, which was completed on Nov. 26, was the thirty-third annual track inspection on all main lines of the Hocking Valley. Awards were made on the results of this inspection.

This inspection, which was conducted by a small group of experts, was based on four points, line, policing and general order, ballast and ditches, and ties and crossings.

The general result all along the line was extremely satisfactory, showing an increase in efficiency over the previous year.

Marion Not Included

Plans of the Pennsylvania railroad to coordinate rail and bus service on part of its lines in the mid-western section of the country will not affect Marion, according to information coming from local offices.

The closest district to Marion to be affected by this innovation will be the Lima district, which will have rail and bus service west to Chicago and east to Mansfield.

Hold Annual Meeting

F. A. Sparks, supervisor of district No. 2, Marion, of the Hocking Valley railroad, was in Columbus this week attending the annual "get-to-gether" meeting of the safety department of the road held at the Neil House. This meeting became an annual affair in the last few years and is devoted to discussion of safety methods.

The program opened with an address by the general manager of the railroad. Committee reports were given and general discussion was held, followed by the annual banquet.

Dr. Taylor's cup, given annually to the employe below the rank of foreman who contributed the most to the safety program in the year, was presented.

The general manager's trophy was presented with M. S. Conners making the presentation speech. After the meeting a group picture was taken on the state capitol steps.

NEW BROTHERHOOD AUXILIARY FORMED

Indianapolis Woman in Charge of Organization of Local Railway Society

A new auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen was organized here yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Virginia Hadden, of Indianapolis, at Druids hall. The auxiliary, to be known as Whitney Lodge No. 846, will meet in Druids hall the second and fourth Friday of each month.

Mrs. Harry Zieg was elected president, Mrs. Otto Clark, vice president, Mrs. M. C. Cramer, secretary, Mrs. Grover Bowser, chaplain, Mrs. Waldo Feddicord, conductress, Mrs. Elmer Moore, warden, Mrs. E. J. Robinson, inner guard, Mrs. W. C. Perry, outer guard, Mrs. C. B. Gaudert, pianist and Mrs. William Maish, legislative representative.

Seventeen applications for membership were read and the charter closed with about 35 members.

At the close of the afternoon session, a 6 o'clock dinner was served to about 125, at tables decorated in red, white, and green, the auxiliary colors. At 8 o'clock public installation was held with Mrs. Hadden as installing officer. The remainder of the time was spent with cards and dancing.

William Belser of the men's organization presented Mrs. Hadden with a hand-painted scarf at the opening of the meeting.

ARREST PAIR FOR CLAIBOURNE THEFT

Union County Men Arrested for Store and Postoffice Robbery

MARYSVILLE, Jan. 26—Thornton Jolliff, 23, and Deo Dunnan, 25, both of Claibourne township, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Sheriff J. B. Lingrel and Officer Anthony Pfarr for burglary. It is charged that the two entered the store of Rev. George Moore which is connected with the Claibourne postoffice, on the night of Jan. 23. The charge was admitted by Jolliff, who handed over $25.10, which he said he took from the postoffice. He also said that Dunnan was his accomplice in taking two watches, a sack of sugar, tobacco and some other articles, and that Dunnan also helped himself to a handful of money. Dunnan denied these statements in spite of a triple cross-questioning by Officer Pfarr, Prosecuting Attorney Thrall and the district postoffice inspector.

Young Jolliff also confessed to entering the store in company with Dunnan twice previous to Wednesday evening. On these occasions, he said, they took a shirt, knives, gloves and tobacco, and other things which were not missed.

They were arraigned before Justice J. H. Kindake and bound over to the grand jury, Jolliff, because of his confession under a bond of $1,000. Dunnan under a bond of $2,000. The former's bond was furnished by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Joliff and he was released Dunnan was unable to give bond, and was remanded to jail.

STORMS THREATEN SEVERAL VESSELS

No Word Heard from Italian Freighter After SOS Call

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—"Davy Jones locker" threatened several shipping vessels today as sleet and wind storms continued to raise havoc along the Atlantic seaboard and far out to sea.

No further word has been received from the Italian freighter Capo Vado which sent out an S. O. S. call yesterday. The distress message was too faint to reach shore stations but was picked up by the American freighter Western Knight and relayed to the Chatham station of the Radio Marine Corp.

The Western Knight gave the Italian freighter's position as about 600 miles southeast of Bermuda. No details were given nor did the American freighter state whether she was close enough to render assistance.

Anything Can Happen on Court

AFTER last night's showing in Star auditorium when Harding high basketeers dropped a 23 to 20 decision to Delaware, it is a mighty easy thing to believe that anything can happen on a basketball court.

One thing certain, however, a game is never won before the final whistle blows. Last night's contest was won at the start of the week when Harding considered Delaware an easy thing. The team entered the game over-confident and the result . . . . well that is past history now.

THE contest was the second straight to be lost by the Red and Black. Last week the locals were defeated at Bucyrus. Some say that the boys went stale in that game.

Harding now faces three straight North Central Ohio league teams in as many weeks. The locals still have a chance at the title although after last night's showing it does not look very bright. Still the defeat may do the locals a world of good.

New Players Fail To Materialize

ALTHOUGH much heralded during the past week, the three new men who were supposed to work wonders for Compton last night failed to materialize.

The latest word has it that Heller, Garrett and Tuttle will become eligible Monday and will be available the balance of the season. Low grades kept the trio on the bench during the first half of the season.

Last night found Bush and Merkel starting the game in place of McAninch and Walker. The two second stringers put up a good battle showing prospects of developing into first rate material for next year. Merkel is exceptionally fast although still a bit awkward in his floor work.

League Teams To Make Whoopee

THE next four weeks will find plenty whoopee being made in the North Central Ohio league. Last night Shelby played at Ashland and tonight Bucyrus journeys over to Mansfield for one of the outstanding games of the league.

The league leading Galion cagers will play in Star auditorium Friday night while Mansfield is entertaining Ashland.

Feb 8 will find the entire league swinging into action with three games scheduled. Ashland is scheduled for the Harding court and Shelby plays at Bucyrus. Galion draws a tough assignment playing Mansfield at home.

Harding and Ashland will close their seasons the following Friday, Feb. 15, the locals playing at Shelby and Bucyrus at Ashland. The season will wind up on Feb 22 with Bucyrus playing at Galion and Mansfield at Shelby.

Players Rated by Hits, Not Runs

TIME makes a lot of difference with baseball players. A few years ago the number of runs scored was given the most attention and in fact, a critic tells us, it was not until 1868 that the system of including the hits in the printed summaries started.

Players in the early days were rated on the number of runs scored each season. Runs make little difference now days. No matter how many times a man may cross the plate, if his batting average is not around the .300 mark then he is all wet. From a standpoint of games won and lost it makes little difference how many hits a man may get in a game if he fails to score.

Ten Years Ago in Local Sports

JAN. 27, 1919. The Star said: Martel high school teams, boys and girls, defeated Edison . . . . "Cyclone Bill," holder of the Police Gazette welterweight championship who is wrestling out of Cleveland, will meet Matsuda, the Columbus Jap, at the Hart theater on Wednesday night Jan. 29) . . . . Club owners of the American association gathered in Chicago today to draw up the 1919 schedule and iron out a few rough spots in the association . . . . On the preceding Friday night Marion high school cagers were beaten at Delaware by a 38 to 6 score . . . . A telegraph dispatch stated that there was little chance for Georges Carpentier French boxing idol, to meet Jess Willard when the latter defends his title in July.

VOLLEYBALL TEAMS PICKED AT Y.M.C.A.

Second Half of Business Men's Season Starts Wednesday

Captains for the eight teams in the Business Men's Volleyball league met at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon and chose new teams for the second half of the season which will get under way next Wednesday. The captains are: Frank Kette W. C. Brown, Kenneth Tobin, Wilbur Pfeiffer, Edgar Barnhart, Kenneth Kerr, William Locke, and John Clark. These men headed teams in the first half with the exception of Pfeiffer who succeeds Robert White.

The first half ended in a first place tie between White and Kerr. The playoff match is scheduled for next Tuesday at 6:30 o'clock at the Y.

The personnel of the new teams follows:

Kette—L. C. Stang, A. F. Kette, W. H. Scott, Virgil Powell, Walter Long George Wright and Lloyd Meredith.

Locke—Roy Waddell, Roy Rice, Louis Teitelbaum, Walter Bailey, Adam Bauer and Harold Grigsby.

Clark—Rodney Hume, Charles Isaks, Eugene Moore, B. K. Hill, Dr. V. C. Kissell, and Ray Pritchard.

JACK JOHNSON IS NOT IMPRESSED BY SHARKEY

NEW YORK, Jan 26—Jack Johnson, known as the cleverest defensive boxer in the world when he held the heavyweight championship wasn't favorably impressed by Jack Sharkey's form in the sailor's bout with K. O. Christner here last night. The giant negro was given a tremendous ovation when introduced from the ring.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At New York—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, won decision over K. O. Christner, of Akron, Ohio (10).

At New Orleans—W. L. (Young) Stribling, Macon, Ga., heavyweight, scored technical knockout over Ralph Smith, of California (3).

At Boston—Al Mello, Lowell, Mass., won decision over Joe Dundee, champion (10). They fought at catch weights and Dundee's title was not at stake.

HARDING LOSES TO DELAWARE

OVER CONFIDENCE SHOWN BY LOCALS IN 23-20 SETBACK

Marion Defense Unable To Stop Under Basket Shots

GILLIS HIGH

Turley and Oller Star for Victors; Galion Next

BY ROB ELLIOTT
Sports Staff, The Star

DELAWARE High school cagers proved beyond a doubt the old theory that a basketball game is never won until it is completed when they gave the dope bucket a terrific kick and incidently handed Coach Paldy Compton a Harding quintet its third setback of the season, 23 to 20. The game, played at the Star auditorium last night before a large crowd, was one of the fastest of the season, and the first of a series of two games to be played between the two teams.

The Delaware team, scarcely given a chance before game time, displayed a fine passing offense, especially underneath the basket, that netted practically all its points. The visitors relied on a slow offense, somewhat like that employed by the Wittenberg U. five. The fast game that was banked on by the Red and Black was put to a quick halt by the collegetown five.

Looked Stale

The Compton men looked a little stale at different parts of the game and failed to exhibit the fast play that has marked their play so far. They missed numerous shots and resorted to many long ones in the closing part of the game in an attempt to win.

Compton started with a slightly revamped team, Lockwood taking the tipoff position, Merkle one of the forwards, and Bush starting at McAninch's guard. Custner was at the other guard while Roush acted as Merkle's running mate. Roush opened the scoring with a basket from the side and Merkle put Harding into the lead with a foul after Burch had counted on Lockwood's foul. Burch and Turley then sank fielders to put Delaware into a 5 to 3 lead at the end of the first quarter.

MacAninch, Walker and Gillis went into the local lineup in the second period, replacing Bush, Merkle, and Lockwood. McCleary split even on Lockwood's personal before Roush intercepted a Delaware pass and dribbled in for two points. Lockwood blew a short shot and then Turley broke into the scoring with a two pointer from under the basket. As the half ended Roush sent a long pass to Gillis who took it in for his first fielder. The score at half time was 8 to 7, Delaware.

Controls Tip

Delaware's play during the whole first half revolved around center McCleary, who was missing many short shots. There were few chances for open shots by either team. Lockwood seemed to be controlling the tipoff the greater share of the half.

Turley opened the second half with a side shot and then Gillis faked a pass to Roush and pivoted for two points. Oller sank a long shot for Delaware and Gillis evened it up on two pointers from the foul circle. Oller kept up his barrage on the basket when he threw one over his head for another field goal. Burch took a long pass and dribbled in for a fielder. Gillis revived local hopes when he shot a pass to McAninch who sank a goal for the Red and Black. Oller again hit the hoop for a goal to put Delaware into an 18 15 lead at the three quarter mark.

Turley raised the victors score to 20 and MacAninch scored three points when he was fouled while sinking a short shot. Knight made and missed on Custner's foul and Vic Gillis followed in Mac's long shot for a field goal. Oller and Knight both missed free throws and Bush replaced Custner for Harding. MacAninch sank a beautiful long shot with three minutes to play. With the score 21 to 20 against the locals, Oller iced the game by following in a long shot for the winning points.

Oller, Turley Star

Oller and Turley were the individual offensive stars for the winners. Both players hit the bucket for four field goals. Nearly all the winners points resulted from their fine pass work under the Harding basket.

Gillis led the Harding scorers with eight points although MacAninch was right behind with seven counters. Walker, Harding forward, played one of the best defensive games on the floor. Bush and Merkle both newcomers to the Red and Black this year, looked fair. Little Merkle, the pee-wee of the Compton squad, should make sweet material for the locals next year.

Coach Compton is expected to make whoopee with the local team before it commences the home stretch of its strenuous league schedule with Galion here next Friday. So far Galion has won two league games without a loss and is leading the loop.

WALDO boys are out in front of the east section standings of the Marion county high school basketball league today as a result of a big upset last night in which Martel was defeated in a hard fought game by Pleasant.

Green Camp continued to run up its string of wins today on top of the west section boys' standings of the league. Morral, the second place team, was not scheduled.

In the girls' division little of importance occurred as a result of three contests played last night, that is still out in front of the west section with Prospect having gained a half game with a victory over Agosta. Kirkpatrick managed to hold a half game edge on Pleasant by trimming Caledonia while Pleasant was winning over Martel. Kirkpatrick has played one more game than the second place Pleasant aggregation.

Green Camp high cagers won a brace of games last night, defeating both the boys' and girls' teams of LaRue. Porter, with a total of 11 points, led the boys to a 11 to 8 victory. Coach Lovett, after his regulars had scored 31 points in the first half while holding LaRue scoreless, sent in his second stringers in the final period.

Pleasant pulled the big surprise of last night's play when the boys walked off with a 27 to 23 victory over Martel. The victory put Martel out of the league lead. Rouhse, star guard, was the main cog in the Pleasant machine with a total of 17 points from five field goals and two fouls. The game was exceptionally close with Martel leading until the final quarter. The Pleasant girls stayed in the east section race by chalking up a 11 to 7 win over the Martel sextet.

Kirkpatrick and Caledonia split even in their games at Kirkpatrick. Caledonia boys turned in a 15 to 10 victory with Baird and Tinson doing most of the winning team's scoring. Kirkpatrick girls had no trouble defeating the Caledonia team, 16 to 9.

The Caledonia-Waldo contest slated on the latter court will be played tonight. Prospect and Agosta played earlier in the week with Prospect chalking up a double win.

DON MILLER ACCEPTS STATE COACHING JOB

Notifies St. John He Will Take Over Ohio Backfield Duties

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26—Don Miller, for several years a backfield coach at Georgia Tech, and a member of Notre Dame's famous "Four Horsemen," today began preparations to begin his new duties as backfield coach at Ohio State university, following his acceptance late yesterday of the Buckeye offer.

Miller notified L. W. St. John, athletic director of Ohio State Friday afternoon, that he would accept the offer of backfield assistant to Sam Willaman, newly-appointed head football coach.

The famous member of Notre Dame's greatest backfield, declined an offer from the University of Washington, in accepting the Buckeye position. Georgia Tech officials, too would like to retain Miller, although they could not hope to "come up to the Ohio State offer."

Miller, whose home is in Defiance, O., practices law in Cleveland during the winter months with his brothers Ray, prosecutor of Cuyahoga county, and Gerald. These three brothers, in addition to two others have all played backfield positions for Notre Dame in the past 20 years.

MARION MERCHANTS DEFEAT MANSFIELD

Lead of 201 Pins Piled Up by Local Bowling Team

Marion Merchants bowling team traveled to Mansfield last night where they took three straight games from the Arcade Billiards of that city. The Marion team had little trouble in piling up a lead of 201 pins in the aggregate score.

The locals finished on the top of the first game by 92 pins winning, 885 to 793. The locals copped the second match, 879 to 815 and then took the last game when Dugan and McFarland both hit the pins for better than 225. The score of the last game was 962 to 917.

Hamilton of the Mansfield team had the high mark of the evening when he rang up a 237 mark. Them and Bookman were the only other players on the losing team to better 200. McFarland let the Marion outfit with with a mark of 230 pins, bowled in the third game. He also was the only man to go above the 600 mark, bowling scores of 190, 196 and 226 to make a total of 616. Dugan managed to squeeze into the select class with an even 600.

Christner Refused To Be Beaten Down By Heavy Blows Landed By Sharkey

NEW YORK Jan. 26—For all the effect that his most prodigious punches had on the armored body of Meyer Wilson, (Kayo) Christner at Madison Square Garden last night, Jack Sharkey might just as well have bounced his gloves off the brass ring posts for 10 rounds.

Don't let them tell you Sharkey wasn't hitting last night. He poured wet leather into the unyielding flesh of this remarkable 34-year-old athlete until his arms dropped from sheer weariness, and couldn't make a dent in a frame hardened by years of toil and as yet unrivaled by the pounding of cruel fists.

Sharkey had to be good last night to stand off a rugged foeman who wouldn't be beaten down and who returned again and again to the attack after having his head almost ripped off his shoulders and his body cruelly torn.

Wins Crowd of 19,000

Experience and boxing ability won the decision for Sharkey and he deserved it, but Christner, a beginner at the age when most ring fighters are through, won a crowd of 19,000 by his amazing vitality, gameness and the will to brave that hail of leather.

He took everything Sharkey could deal out and never stopped winging punches. His left hand was little more than a feeler and he missed often with his right. He couldn't match Sharker at sharp, effective body punishment when they established close contact but he could "take it" and how!

The Boston heavyweight did not escape punishment himself but he slipped many a well meant right that grazed his chin or cheek as he turned his head. He was clipped with a dozen of Christner's best rights and was badly shaken twice or three times.

"I have never fought a man who recovered so quickly from punches that would floor most heavyweights," said Sharkey to his dressing room later. "He wasn't hard to hit as he came at me all spread out and my knuckles are sore from smashing at his concrete ribs and chin. The man is a good fighter. I can see now how he licked Hansen."

CHRISTNER PROVES GALLANT SOUL WHEN STAGES REAL FIGHT

Akronite Proves To Be Plenty of Worry for Talking Cob

CROWD IMPRESSED

Lot of Indignation Heard as Fans Leave Madison Garden

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Staff, The Star

NEW YORK, N. Y. Jan. 26—Lightning isn't supposed to strike twice in the same place, but it did at Madison Square Garden last night, thus making an awful tramp out of the superstitionists, but otherwise leaving the situation unchanged in a very marked manner. It was the same lightning with which K. O. Christner prostrated Knute Hanson a month ago and it struck exactly in the same place to wit, the jaw. But, unfortunately it was another jaw. A rather impressive one.

Jack Sharkey deftly blocked a lot of those right hands with his profile for five rounds last night and then came right on in last five to win pretty much as he forced, the result being that the battle of the beach front at Miami was saved to posterity.

A gallant soul this Christner. He has the hide of the vulcanized rubber he handled in the pits at Akron and the will to make the most of his physical assets. Only the heart-whole of this life could have stood up under the right hand uppercuts with which Sharkey belabored him in the later rounds. It is to be doubted whether Sharkey would have cared very devotedly for his own punches. He probably would have taken an awful licking if he had been in there leading for his own goalee.

Says Sharkey Won Six

Being the man he is, Christner's licking wasn't an awful one. In fact, the witnesses seemed to be unduly perturbed by the decision and prattled their way out of the place in a fine frenzy of indignation.

I am unable to account for the demonstration. According to my scoring, Sharkey won six rounds, Christner three and one was even. At the end, Christner was punch-weary, with heaving chest and drooling legs.

But this tyro from the tire shops had made a great fight against one of the ranking heavyweights of the age and needed no part of a palliator for the performance.

The fight he made, indeed, was so good for five rounds that he all but stole the show. Sharkey apparently thought he was in there with a chump, for he let Christner carry him off his feet with a series of right crosses in the opening round, and again in the fourth. He was beaten to the punch with alarming regularity. Christner throwing a right near the belt that hurt Sharkey's ancestors.

Sharkey Opens Up

The second went to Sharkey because of the punches he dropped in Kayo's sun parlor and the third was even, so this Meyer from whoever was doing right well indeed, when the fifth round opened. He started this one at the same pace, clipping Johnny heard with right after right in the first two minutes of play. It looked like a washout for the Miami Beach enterprise at this point. But, enough apparently was a great plenty in Sharkey's estimation. He now started to slip punches and counter with hard right uppercuts. If Christner liked these, he disguised the fact with great presence of mind.

Just at the bell, he was hit with a left and right on the door bell and I think this incident was the great convincer. It was Christner's round, but, thereafter, it was Sharkey's fight.

Kayo Gallant Soul

Meyer had a hangover from those punches when he came out for the sixth and Sharkey's two-handed attack smothered him like a steak under so many onions. Kayo rallied sufficiently in the seventh to score with two hard right hands but he was a weary fighter now, and the punch lacked its early authority. Otherwise the round was Sharkey's. He still was slipping leads and countering heavily. He continued this performance right up to the final bell, catching Christner with the best punch of the fight in the eighth, a right hand uppercut that drove Kayo's head back on his spinal vertebrae. Its only effect was to make the man fight harder and the same thing happened when he was hit with a booming left hook to the body in the ninth and a right over the heart in the tenth.

SMITH IS PUT AWAY BY YOUNG STRIBLING

Scores Technical Knockout Over Man Dempsey Kayoed Daily on Stage

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan 26—With another knockout victory under his belt, W. L. (Young) Stribling looked forward confidently today to his important fight with Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach, Fla., on Feb. 27.

In his final bout before the Sharkey go, the youthful Georgia heavyweight scored a technical knockout here last night over Ralph Smith, the "stage hero" who appeared in a New York theatrical production with Jack Dempsey last fall and was knocked out six nights and two matinees every week. Smith used to go two rounds with Dempsey and lasted little longer against Stribling. Referee Jimmy Moran stopping the slaughter in one minute and 50 seconds of the third round.

The fight was stopped after Smith had been knocked down five times—three times in the first round, once in the second and once in the third. Lefts and rights to the jaw furnished the motive power. The referee halted the bout after a series of body punches and an overhand left to the jaw felled Smith for a count of nine on the final knockdown.

White gloves were used for the first time in a local ring but they remained white for only a few seconds, as the fight was one of the most sanguinary ever witnessed here.

The crowd, which included "Ma" Stribling, was the largest ever to attend a contest at the Coliseum here. The bout marked the first venture of Martin Burke, retired heavyweight, as a promoter.

ST. MARY'S FROSH LOSE TO CENTRAL

Junior High School Five Chalks Up Easy 46-11 Win

St. Mary's freshmen proved no match for the Central Junior cagers who chalked up a 46 to 11 victory in their clash last night at the Y. M. C. A. here. It was little more than a practice for the winners who had their own way the whole game. The Central team led at the half, 37 to 2. Coach Gabler used two full teams, although Pickerel and Morgan did most of the damage. Bintz led the losers with seven counters.

In the preliminary game home room No. 7 defeated home room No. 10, 16 to 13. The game was a regular league contest. Jacoby and Martin were high scorers.

CAPITAL'S SEVENTH WIN AS MARIETTA IS BEATEN

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26—Capital university basketeers made it their seventh straight win here last night in a hard fought game with the Pioneers from Marietta, coming from behind in the last period to top a 36-to-27 score. Brudeweser, star sophomore guard for the Lutherans, played his usual major roll, and accounted for 14 points. Marietta was in the lead at the start, when Captain Trott, of the Pioneers, sunk a basket, but the locals soon assumed a margin, and retained it throughout.

In a listless contest, Ashland high school cagers last night won its first North Central Ohio league game by defeating Shelby, 25 to 17.

The contest was the only one played in the league last night, as Bucyrus-Mansfield clash having been postponed until tonight. The game will be played at Mansfield.

Ashland's victory over Shelby was not in the least surprising, but it failed to show anything strong that the college town school. The victory should have been one-sided as it now stands, Ashland and Shelby are the two weakest teams in the league.

Enck was high scorer for Ashland, gathering in eight points. Paxton and Kirkpatrick each counted seven points for the victors.

CINCY WINS CLOSE TILT FROM OHIO BASKETEERS

CINCINNATI, Jan 26—Cincinnati's Wildcats stepped up another notch in the Buckeye A. A. race here last night by nosing out Ohio, 36 to 34. At the half the score was tied, 16 all, and six other times during the game the score was even. With a minute to play, Frank Lincoln, guard, dropped one through the net from the middle of the floor, giving his team the two-point margin of victory.

MOUNT UNION WALLOPS KENYON; SCORE, 54 TO 16

ALLIANCE, Jan 26—Jumping to the lead from the starting whistle and going like a house on fire, Mt. Union smothered Kenyon here last night, 54 to 16. Mount opened up a fresh attack at the beginning of the half, and guarded Kenyon's forwards so well they had few opportunities to even attempt a basket.

Myers flashy Mount forward tossed heavy with eight buckets and four fouls for a total of 20 points.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 26—Grain prices scored further good advances yesterday with a continuation of the active buying. Bullish enthusiasm ran high throughout the session, and a firm close, despite heavy profit taking served to increase that attitude.

Wheat prices advanced early to within a shade of the season's best figures, with buying based on unfavorable weather conditions and their possibilities of damage and strength at Winnipeg. Offerings increased at higher prices and the remainder of the session price swings were erratic. All dips found excellent support and a closing rally put prices back near the day's top to finish 1@1½c higher.

Corn Firm

Trade in corn was not as active as in wheat but the market was firm and higher throughout the period. Commission house buying took the slack from the market on the dips but failed to follow upturns and most of the advances were made on active purchasing by prominent local bulls. May and July sold at new high prices on the crop. Closing prices showed net gains of 1¼@1½c.

Oats responded quickly to higher corn prices and an improved cash demand closing ½@⅞c higher. Price fluctuations in the rye market were even more erratic than in wheat, and closing quotations showed net advances of ¾@1c.

While a great many of the seasoned grain traders are still skeptical of a continuation of advancing prices at this time, there is a friendlier feeling toward the market. The broad buying power which has been witnessed recently, it is felt, could easily result in higher prices should any bullish incentive develop.

At present this incentive is coming from the possibilities of crop damage, the increased consumption which resulted from lower prices, and the feeling that the bulk of the wheat is in sight. While it is the usual calendar period to sell, and is considered too early to bull wheat on crop damage, the fact that the buying power is sustained with longs fairly well sold out and shorts covered increases the possibility of an advance. On the other hand, this condition increases the possibility for a sharp setback, which accounts for the heavy profit-taking on the bulges.

Foreign News Bearish

Foreign news leaned to the bearish side yesterday, but this fact was ignored in the local enthusiasm. Liverpool was firm, closing ½@½c higher, but ignored our advance of Thursday. Buenos Aires ruled lower. Private cables said Liverpool was feeling pressure from Australian and Argentine wheat. Shipments from these two countries were considerably larger than the previous week. On the bear side in the domestic news were reports of increased movement of wheat, with 111 cars received at Hutchinson, Kan.

Corn opened higher and went to new highs on the crop within five minutes of the opening in a broad trade with active buying by all interests. Profit-taking sales at the new high levels satisfied the demand, however, and prices were easier. Local bulls were active in supporting the market, but other locals were inclined to fight the advance. Selling against the privileges was also a factor in checking the upturn.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

The provision market in Marion closed a quiet week today with no price changes being registered by local retail merchants. The prices on meats, groceries, fruits and vegetables remained where they have been the greater part of the last seven days.

One or two small changes in the meat department, a drop in the price of creamery butter and a few cents cut off of one or two vegetables, mark the extent of the changes this last week.

NASH AND PACKARD IN HEAVY DEMAND

Auto Merger Rumors Persistent In Wall Street

SALES DROP

New Gold Shipments Eases Money, Credit Situation

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Jan 26—The public utility stocks and the motor stocks were the leaders in a moderate upward movement of prices at the beginning of trading today. Compared with yesterday's sensational skyrocketing, the first period today was comparatively tame. The week-end profit-taking in the favorites held up the steam-roller movements in the week's best performers, losses in some sections extending from one to seven points.

Nash Motors and Packard were eagerly grabbed up in a heavy turnover on persistent rumors of a pending merger of these prominent manufacturers of fine American cars in some of the rumors Chrysler and Studebaker were also linked up, with reports that a gigantic investment trust now in formation would be in the market for an enormous volume of motor stocks. Nash sold above 118 for a two point gain and Packard was well bought at 11, up 1½. General Motors also gained two points at 214½, and Hupp moved up 2½.

With new shipments of gold reported, Wall Street breathed a little easier on the money and credit situation. The bulls also had the breaks on the week-end trade and business reports, which were uniformly favorable. Stock sales in the first half-hour totalled 710,000 shares, against 934,000 in the same period yesterday, the decline being registered mostly in the absence today of 10,000 share blocks on the sales sheets.

Coty took the play in the specialties, booming ahead to about 80 for a four-point jump. Radio and Victor showed a little more spirit, the former crossing 307 for a seven-point jump and Victor again above 150.

Cotton

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Cotton opened irregular today at a decline of six points to an advance of three. March sold at 19.53C, May 19.83C, July 19.47C, October 19.23C, October (new) 19.09C, and December 19.11C.

LOANS UP TO $500

Perhaps you have never stopped to think of it but if you buy an article each day for $1.10 on credit—and then pay your bill at the end of the month—you are paying 20% per month or 240% a year for the credit, assuming that the cash price on the same article is $1.00. On this same basis an average $30 purchase credit for thirty days costs you $6.60 while at The City Loan a $30 money credit for a month costs only 90 cents.
In other words you can borrow from The City Loan to buy with cash and gain the low price, earn discounts, get bargains and save money. It's really worth while to establish a credit with The City Loan and use this modern loan plan for all your money needs. The cost is low for the value of the service.

MRS. MARY PHILLIPS DIES IN COLUMBUS

Former Resident of Marion County To Be Buried at Prospect

Mrs. Mary P. Phillips, former resident of Marion county, passed away at her home in Columbus yesterday morning after a month's illness

Mrs. Phillips was born in Portage county, but her family moved to Green Camp in the early seventies. In 1870 she married Venas Phillips, moving to Prospect township soon after her marriage. The Phillips family then moved to a farm south of Richwood where Mr. Phillips died in 1906. At the close of that year she moved to Columbus, where she had resided ever since

She is survived by two children, Mrs. Julia Ports and Thomas Phillips, both of Columbus, five grandchildren, Robutt Ports, cadet at West Point, Margaret and Elizabeth Ports and Morell and Patricia Phillips; two brothers, Howard Stallsmith, of Oregon, and Thomas Stallsmith, of Los Angeles, Cal.

Funeral services will be held in the Methodist church at Prospect, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Burial will be made in Prospect cemetery

It's time you had a photograph taken!

THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Yes! the new high school site is in Brightwood; it includes seventeen acres of beautiful land. Around this site in a few years you will see many attractive and beautiful homes. The person who looks ahead sees these things and visualizes them. He is the person who invests before values go up and profits by their certain rise. Homesites in Brightwood are now reasonably priced and home owners in Brightwood find they are centrally located in Marion, and that all the conveniences of our city are theirs for the asking; even dry cellars may be had which is not possible so many places in Marion.
